WOODWARD HIDING

Millionaire Who "Kidnaped" Child Goes Through "Limes"

NEW YORK Jan 30—Orator
Francis Woodward, multimillionaire
who was hiding today while detectives employed by his mother
in law, Mrs. Mary A. Davis, of Fall River, Mass., were trying frantically
to serve him with a habeas corpus writ for the custody of his two children.

Woodward "kidnaped" his children
from his wife in Paris and yesterday succeeded in getting them through a cordon of detectives who besieged
the water front when he arrived here
on the Ile De France.

ORGANIZATION CITED AS NEED OF FARMERS

Is Road to Solution of Problems, State Speaker Says
at County Meeting

300 PERSONS ATTEND

Annual Farm Bureau Session
Takes Place at Schwinger's Hall

Strengthening the need of an organization by the farmers of the state of Ohio for the solution of their problems Arthur Wood head of the publicity department of the Ohio Farm Bureau corporation addressed about 300 persons including members of the Marion County Farm Bureau and guests at the annual bureau meeting held at Schwinger's hall Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Wood's address was the main topic of the meeting, which started at 10 o'clock this morning with the report of the past year being read.
A list of officers for the coming year was to occupy the first part of the afternoon program starting at 1 o'clock. Following the election of officers there was to be a community meeting led by Paul C. Smith, service manager of the Marion County Farm Bureau.

Miss Vera Lissner, head of the home and community work of the Ohio Farm Bureau, gave the first address of the day.

There are three major difficulties facing the farmer today, Mr. Wood stated. They are the lack of adequate marketing distribution too high taxation and the difficulty of obtaining credit at the banks in the average city.

Some Makes Report
The morning program opened at 11 o'clock with a report on the activities of the Marion County Farm Bureau for the past year by L. S.

U. S. MAY CLOSE CASE BY NIGHT IN BRIBE TRIAL

Gruber, Cincinnati Attorney,
on Stand When Court
Recesses at Noon

BUCKLEY CONFIDENT

State Treasurer Believes Outcome of Hearing Will Be Favorable

COLUMBUS Jan 30—Indications
that the government would complete its case before nightfall and the examination of 12 witnesses marked the trial of State Treasurer Bert B. Buckley on bribery and liquor conspiracy charges in federal court here today.

Adolph (Dolly) Gruber, Cincinnati attorney and admitted conspirator, but who was not indicted because of evidence furnished the government was on the stand when the court recessed at noon.

W. E. Brannan of Dayton, a federal prohibition agent, occupied the stand for a time this morning and told how he found in the Jackson Brewery of Cincinnati the tinning of this beer led to the indictment of the brew-
master Joseph Gruber, Attorney
John L. Schrimmer and Buckley.

Reach Into South
The arm of the government reached into the southland for some of its witnesses. J. E. Mann, Postal telegraph manager at New Orleans, Mrs. W. B. Hunt, Hot Springs, postal employee John A.
Kelly, New Orleans hotel clerk, T.
M. Manning, Birmingham hotel
clerk, and T. W. Parker of Chittanooga, were among the appearing on the stand.

When Gruber appeared on the stand he testified that the beer containing over the legal alcohol percentage was intended for the American Legion convention in Texas, which was then in session. He still
was a witness to the boys.

If the government rests its case
late this afternoon as is expected,
the defense will then introduce its witnesses and is expected to conclude its case in one day.

The three beer brewers
were given a further hearing
in federal court here today in the trial of Buckley entered its third day.

High spots in the testimony were the testimony of John L. Dehart on the witness stand. He discussed the telephone wire used in the witness stand by Don W. Griffin, federal district inspector, that the distributors of beer were not full responsible of the conspiracy.

Eckhart who made the case on Buckley started his testimony Monday but it was not until he was cross-examined yesterday that the trial began to live up.

Bribery Charged
It is charged by the government that Buckley tried to bribe Dehart to disclose information as to when certain breweries in Cincinnati were allegedly manufacturing illicit beer and were to be added. The case was the outgrowth of a raid by federal officers
on the Jackson Brewery Co. at Cincinnati when four kegs of beer containing over the legal alcohol percentage were found. Joseph Sperber, brewmaster sought the aid of John Schrimmer and Adolph Gruber, two Cincinnati attorneys who in turn sought the aid of Buckley. The state

Junior Church, Made Up of Marion Boys and Girls, One of City's Most Active Religious Organizations

Juvenile Calvary Congregation Has 9 to 15-Year
Age Limit

"A LITTLE child shall lead them"

Children of today are urging their parents to go to church.
Instead of the aged Sunday morning, a family round of parents compelling children to attend services.

At least that has been the story told by several parents to Miss Velma Schueller, assistant pastor of Calvary Evangelical church and superintendent of the Calvary Junior congregation.

Since the establishment of the Calvary Junior church the first Sunday in September the children have been enthusiastic about the place and on Sundays have there been less than 50 in attendance. For the last two months there has been an average attendance of 70.

The age limit for the Junior church is 9 to 15 years. It is the opinion of Miss Schueller
that for the Junior church
it is a primary church should be established.

BOOTH BLOCKS COUNCIL MOVE

Salvation Army Head Granted Injunction Halting Removal Proceedings

LONDON Jan 30—Justice Lee in Chancery court today granted Geo.
Bramwell Booth an injunction preventing the Salvation Army high council from acting upon the resolution removing him from his general ship or appointing a successor. A temporary injunction had been in effect
since Jan 18.

The injunction will stand until after a further meeting of the high council when General Booth should have an opportunity of being heard.
High officials of the Salvation Army
will meet within the next few days
to determine their position in view of the court decision.

Official announcement was made by the high council that it will hold
a new meeting before disbanding.

Logan Gas Co. Introduces Oral Argument Opposing Valuation On Properties

Congressman Mouser To Defend Stand of Utilities Commission This Afternoon; Company Counsel Claims Figures
Too Low, Seeking Increase to $20,500,000

Argument opposing the $10,700,
000 valuation of Logan Gas Co. property in the utilities commission was presented today by the company's counsel, J. P. Mullin, before the committee on public utilities of the U. S. House of Representatives.

The argument was submitted orally
by Mullin, who said that the commission's valuation of the Logan Gas Co. property was too low and that the company was seeking an increase to $20,500,000.

Congressman Mouser, who is defending the stand of the utilities commission, will appear this afternoon to oppose the company's claim.

2 GUARDSMEN GIVEN LIBERTY

Jennings' Jury Fails To Reach Verdict After 20 Hours

PHILADELPHIA, Jan 30—Both guardsmen Frank L. Beck and Burton Olin Jennings, charged with murder for the fatal shooting of Jacob D. Hanson, Negro, 14½, Philadelphia, are free men today.

Jennings gained his liberty tomorrow at least, today when a jury in Judge John H. Hazel's court here failed to agree on a verdict after deliberating more than 20 hours. Beck was discharged by Judge Hazel.

When the jury failed to agree on a verdict, the judge ordered the guardsmen to be released.

APPROPRIATION CUT STARTED BY COOPER

Budget Calls for Funds Not To Exceed
$60,000,000

COLUMBUS, Jan. 20.—Recommendations that appropriations from the state's general revenue fund during the coming two years shall not exceed $60,000,000 will be made in the budget message to be sent to the state legislature in a few days by Gov. Meyer Y. Cooper. Announcement to that effect was made today by Finance Director Harry D. Silver, who is aiding the governor in the preparation of the budget recommendations.

Silver pointed out that, based on the present legislative program, payments into the general revenue fund will approximate $90,000,000 during the biennium. A balanced budget is contemplated.

Heads of various state departments and institutions have recommended appropriations, from this fund, totaling about $82,000,000 during the coming two years. Silver is at work cutting these recommendations to the $60,000,000 mark. The legislature, two years ago, appropriated about $87,000,000 from the general revenue fund.

Silver said, however, that neither the governor nor himself would oppose appropriations in excess of $60,000,000, if the police deem it necessary, provided legislative action is taken which will insure increased revenue to balance any such additional appropriations.

'NOTHER RECORD

Youth Chews 120 Sticks of Gum

COLUMBIA CITY, Ind., Jan. 20.—What a scolded jaw or so when you have accomplished the stupendous feat of breaking your own world's record for chewing gum?

That was the belief today of Harold Redman, local youth, who poked the world of those who chew gum in a big way by closing his jaw upon 120 sticks, a total seven greater than what Redman claims was his previous world's record.

Redman was resting today on the emphatic advice of physicians after they had examined his right jaw which was swollen as though he had a double case of mumps.

SAM PICKARD RESIGNS AS RADIO COMMISSIONER

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—President Coolidge has accepted the resignation of Sam Pickard, radio commissioner for the middle western zone, effective Feb. 1. It was announced at the White House today. It is understood Pickard will become vice president of the Columbia Broadcasting System of New York.

TO RESUME LAW

COLUMBUS, Jan. 20.—James Hoffmann, Democrat, member of the state legislature commission and a non-lawyer of former Gov. Vile Donahoe, announced today that he will resume the practice of law Feb. 1, when his term with the legislature commission expires. "Under no circumstances will I be a hold over," Hoffmann said.

Warns Women to Check High Blood Pressure

Thousands of women at the changing time of life are in danger of high blood pressure. It is caused by poisonous waste matter accumulating in the system or the weakening of one or more organs.

"This forces the heart to do more work and raises blood pressure."

The symptoms are dizziness, shortness of breath, head pains, flushed face, nervousness or sleeplessness. High blood pressure must be treated at once for everyone knows it is too dangerous and quick acting to disregard its symptoms.

Normin is a doctor's prescription for high blood pressure that has been used with great success.

Normin contains no habit forming drugs, and works in such a way that it lessens the duty of the over-taxed heart and reduces blood pressure swiftly and surely. Often one bottle brings great relief. Get a bottle of Normin today from any drug store, and free yourself from any symptoms of blood pressure.—A.M.

THOSE who have practiced the theory that anything can be worn under a fur coat, now find that it is entirely erroneous, and that to be properly attired, one must wear a fur coat frock. And it seems the brighter the better, although, unlike the biblical coat of many colors, the fur coat frock usually confines itself to a single brilliant hue. HOME ON LEAVE

Local Naval Recruit to Enter
Machinists' Mate's School

Raymond L. Lander, of 155 Kenmore av., who enlisted in the navy at the local recruiting station recently, is now being on leave, having completed his training. After his leave he will be sent to the machinists' mate's school for a 34-week course in the duties of machinist in the sea-going naval service.

Wayne H. Preiser, of Adrian, Mich., has been enlisted at the local recruiting station and transferred to Cincinnati for final examination, after which he will be sent to Great Lakes Naval Training station for eight weeks prior to taking up his chosen vocation in the navy. Preiser expects to take up electrical work and enter the electrical schools maintained by the navy at San Diego, Cal.

The quota for February is now open at the station here and Chief "Tiger" Captain John B. Shanks, officer in charge, announces that he will be glad to give information regarding any of the trade schools and other opportunities offered by the navy.

ELKS PREPARE FOR "DADDY" WARK NIGHT

Dinner and Visit of District Deputy Included in Program

Arrangements have been completed by Marion Lodge No. 32, E. P. O. Elks, for the annual "Daddy" Wark meeting, to be held Thursday night in honor of James Wark, veteran chaplain of the lodge.

Included in the program for the occasion is a 6:00 o'clock dinner, followed by initiation of candidates and annual lodge inspection by J. L. Perrin, district deputy grand exalted ruler. This will be the district deputy's official visit to the local lodge.

Dinner will be served by women of the Antlers' club, auxiliary organization of the local lodge of Elks.

Mr. Wark, to be honored at the meeting, has served as chaplain of the lodge more than 30 years.

Listerine kills
200,000,000
germs in 15 seconds

Did you realize that Listerine was so powerful?
Hard to believe, isn't it, when you reflect how pleasant and safe Listerine is?

Yet repeated tests employing the tubercle B. (Typhoid) germ, used by the Government to test antiseptics, full strength Listerine killed 200 millions in 15 seconds!

Now you can understand why you should use Listerine to check ordinary colds and sore throat—both caused by germs.

Keep a bottle handy and use it fully, especially after exposure to germ-laden crowds. It helps you ward off trouble. Write for our elaborate free book: "Personal Hygiene."

COLDS
Countless colds start when germs are carried to the mouth on food. By using Listerine on the hands before every meal, you attack such germs and insure the risk of cold. Remember this, mothers, when handling baby's food.

Television Soon Will Be Out of "Peep-Hole" Stage; Experiments Are Now in Progress

Recent Work Enables Any Broadcasting Station To Radio Pictures

(Editor's Note.—This is the third and final exclusive article dealing with the development of television with a view of making it practicable in everyday life.)

BY JAMES L. KILGALLEN
(Copyright 1929 by International News Service)

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Experiments now in progress will bring television out of the "peep-hole" stage, in the opinion of James W. Jenkins, president of the DeForest Radio Co. and president of the newly formed Jenkins Television Corp. In television, as in other fields, there are varying degrees of progress, said Mr. Garside today. "There are experiments throughout the country working with huge scanning disks, large neon lamps, and speed control, with the 'lookin' gazing at a tiny image worn by the whirling holes in the scanning disk.

Like Penny in Slot
"This is the peep-hole stage of television, and is comparable to the penny-in-the-slot stage of the motion picture industry before C. Francis Jenkins of Washington, D. C. developed the first projector, and placed pictures on the screen, so that hundreds, and even thousands, might view them at one time.

"For several years past Mr. Jenkins has been working on television. Long before the demonstrations early last year Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson of the General Electric Co. and the Radio Corporation of America, as well as other workers in this field, Mr. Jenkins was transmitting and receiving television pictures over considerable distances. For more than six months past his transmitter, WJNK, at Washington, D. C., has been broadcasting simultaneously on two wave lengths, namely, short waves for distant 'lookers-in' and broadcast waves for Washington and nearby 'lookers-in'.

"Although Mr. Jenkins, in order to foster interest in practical television, has distributed thousands of simple television outfits with cardboard scanning disks to amateurs and experimenters at cost, he has progressed far beyond the usual scanning disk technique.

Special Device
"Indeed, he has discarded the scanning disk in preference of a special scanning drum of compact dimensions. Instead of the usual neon lamp with a single large plate requiring considerable output so that a special power amplifier or considerable B-batteries are required, Jenkins employs a four-plate neon lamp of his own invention, with each plate flashing in rotation so as to be scanned by one quarter of his scanning drum holes, in turn.

"An ingenious optical system projects the whirling dots of light on to a magnified screen, so that not one but a dozen 'lookers-in' may enjoy the television program. Here, again, we have the transition that took place when selfish radio with its headphones made way for unselfish radio with its loudspeaker.

"The entire television, as he terms it, occupies less room than the average radio receiver. It may be operated on the usual radio set in place of the loudspeaker, if tuned in for a television signal. The operation is so simple that the average broadcast listener can handle it.

Transmission Progress

"And at the transmitting end, Mr. Jenkins has scored comparable progress. While most television workers are struggling with the limitations of the television stage, with its small dimensions, scanning disk, sensitive photo-electric cells, lightning conditions and so on, as well as the search for so-called television faces or faces that televiser properly with or without make-up, Jenkins has gone ahead with his radio movies.

"In this process he films suitable television subjects in any place and manner desired. The negative film is printed up one or more positive films, and these are available for his radio movies projector. This device simply takes the film and converts it into electrical impulses which are impressed on the outgoing waves from a broadcast transmitter, just as the microphone picks up sound waves, converts them into electrical terms, and impresses these on the outgoing radio waves.

Likens Present Status to Penny-in-Slot Days of Movies

"As the direct result of Jenkins' radio movies, any broadcasting station, with a simple device, is set up for television work. Simple subjects are made available. It becomes possible to prepare television subjects for the entire country without the trouble and cost of wire networks."

Projecting Image

Even that does not tell the whole story, Mr. Garside said. He declared that Jenkins has a scanning disk with matched lenses so that it becomes possible to project the television image on a fair sized screen, in order that the entertainment can be followed by a small theater audience. Jenkins is working on a television camera for outside work which will permit of picking up far greater detail and scope than has so far been attempted. He has a checkerboard lamp device which will convert television images into a powerful light screen pattern, with many advantages over the tiny holes of the usual scanning disk with so little light for magnifying purposes.

"I firmly believe," said Mr. Garside, speaking of the future, "that television will find a place alongside our present radio programs. There will be television features just as there are sound features.

"Perhaps in some instances simultaneous broadcasting of sight and sound may be attempted, for it is entirely practical, even now."

LEW SARETT BOOKED HERE MONDAY NIGHT

Woodman-Poet To Be Heard in High School Entertainment Course

Lew Sarett, a strange figure in this work-a-day world, a woodsman-poet and college professor, will appear Monday night at the Star Auditorium as a guest of the senior class of Harding High school on its lecture course program for this year.

Sarett is just as interesting and striking as the wild life of which he will tell about Monday night. For 10 years he has been in the pathless Canadian forests, and his story deals with the wilderness folk, of trails, tapers and his experience as a tenderfoot.

On his tramping he became the friend of the men of the Canadian frontier, and in the silent places of the woods he learned the secrets of woodland life and woodland beasts. He also learned the ways of his friends, the Chippewa Indians, their traditions, superstitions and customs. His experiences of 10 years in the forests he uses as the basic material for his lecture and as the inspiration of his poems, which have been published in leading publications, including the Atlantic Monthly, the Bookman, Century Magazine, the Forum, the North American Review and other leading magazines.

His books of poetry include "Many Many Moons," "The Box of Gold," and "Slow Smoke."

In addition to his other accomplishments, Sarett is also filling a professorship at Northwestern university, which makes it impossible for him to fill more than a limited number of lecture engagements.

Reservations will begin Thursday

men at the high school building and will continue Friday and Monday. Reservations may be made at noon or at night with E. H. Shade.

"COMPLETELY MOTORIZED"

"I HAVE a wife, a daughter and a son," a business man writes, "and each of us needed a car. To buy four new cars was out of the question for me, but thanks to the present-day bargains in used cars, my family has been completely motorized at surprisingly small expense."

A rather unusual family, but the idea is not new. Very many American families in all circumstances have found in the used car an economical means of enjoying the convenience of two- and three-car ownership. For a used car is unused transportation which may be enjoyed by the next owner at an attractive price.

Used cars are opportunities

A good automobile is built to stand years of use. It will provide many thousands of miles of transportation. But only occasionally are all its years and all its mileage used up by one owner.

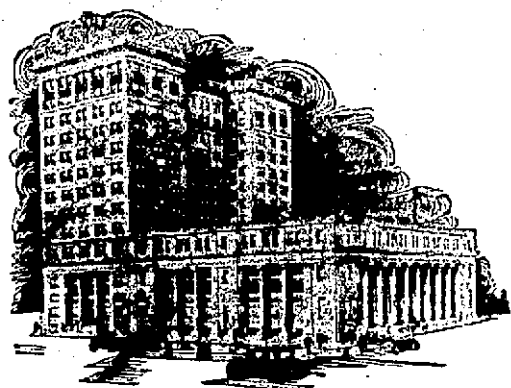

The cars which General Motors dealers are taking in trade offer great opportunities to buy unused transportation at low cost. The convenience of the GMAC Plan of Payment is available.

T. E. Kinnear, Commander of Bird-McGinnis Post, Outlines Aims and Service of Organization Preliminary to Program Arranged Here

Plans for participation in the national program of 'Know the Legion' week, Feb. 1 to 9, have been completed by T. E. Kinnear, Post No. 102 of this city. F. F. Kinnear, commander of the local organization, announced today.

The purpose of setting aside a week to explain the Legion's aims and service is to get the public in closer touch with the organization as well as to call the support of all World War veterans, Kinnear says.

In connection with the campaign here American Legion posters are to be displayed on 15 billboards in the city and 100 smaller posters will be shown in store windows throughout the city.

Addresses Scheduled

Included in the Legion program of the week throughout the country are addresses to be given by prominent Legionnaires who have led office in the organization and who are thoroughly familiar with its work.

Some of the subjects to be stressed by these speakers will be legislation

Cascara is Your Doctor's Choice

When physicians pronounce cascara the PERFECT laxative—why experiment with things that lash the system into action? Cascara, you know, is the bark of a tree. A natural and normal stimulus to the bowels.

The Indians, who used to chew this bark had no word in their language that meant constipation.

Perfect regularity is possible today and to all of us. We have cascara in ideal form—the very delightful tasting candy Cascara gives us pure cascara. It has helped at least a million people to habitual regularity. Millions of others, unfortunately, have stuck to stronger taints and acquired only the laxative habit.

CASCARETS
The Work While You Sleep!

Your first Cascaret will demonstrate how THOROUGH this gentle laxative is after all. Your next surprise will be the length of time before you need another. Eventually, you'll see that cascara leads to make the bowels move thereafter of their own accord.

A modern drugstore must stock many laxatives, but for your own good the drugstore would rather have you ask for the inexpensive little box of Cascarets than anything else.—Adv.

affecting the disabled World War veterans and their dependents, the Legion as a civic and patriotic organization and its place in the community, relief in emergencies and catastrophes, such as were caused by the storms in Florida, the floods along the Mississippi the cyclone in Britain and Bendusky, when the Legion appeared on the scene and took charge of feeding and clothing the needy, patrolling the stricken areas, clearing away the debris, burying the dead, etc.

Legion Work Reviewed

The statement issued by Kinnear, in part, as follows:

This organization from its very inception has assumed the responsibility of seeing to it that adequate provisions are made by the government to care for the sick and wounded veterans and their dependents. The American Legion is responsible for the creation of the Veterans Bureau for the building of government hospitals, and for the legislation providing financial relief for this group.

It also calls attention to work accomplished in Ohio through the service department of the American Legion last year, when 8,253 cases were handled recovering more than $340,000 for these veterans. This sum represents monthly awards in initial checks only. Hospitalization was secured for more than 300 during this same period.

Mr. Kinnear states that the important work before the Legion now and in the future will be the care of orphans of the World War veterans and to see that proper homes are provided for them. It is the aim of the Legion that where a widow and children are left destitute to keep them together and to make this possible a five million dollar endowment fund was raised the interest of which is being used for this purpose.

For Public Good

The Legion points out that it is not a selfish organization, that whatever it undertakes or accomplishes is for the benefit of the general public, as the records show. In many communities it has been a purchased by local posts of the American Legion (shared made into a park and dedicated to the community as a gift.

Swimming pools for children have been built. The Legion points with pride to the number of memorial buildings erected by the posts in which not only the Legion but all civic organizations in the community may meet the local commander says.

"Americanism as undertaken by the American Legion covers a rather wide scope, as the activities of this organization will show. The Legion calls attention to its Day 5 (at an) Junior baseball programs taking in 1924 between the ages of 12 and 17, to teach them fair play, citizenship, patriotism and sportsmanship, all of which helps to build a better citizenship.

The Legion activities are many and varied and are of vital importance to the entire citizenship of every community such as the promotion of better public health conditions, providing educational and enrichment courses, creation or enlargement of public libraries, establishment of public parks, tourist camps, free clinics, summer camps, abundance of service, activities, in the solution of traffic problems, erecting of highways and a many markers, conservation of forests, maintaining fire departments and sponsoring American Legion school awards. These are but a few of the many activities which are carried on by the American Legion.

Strong for Peter
The members of the American Legion know the horrors of war, and therefore are heavily in favor of peace as are all right-thinking American citizens, but not peace at any price. The American Legion is in favor of an adequate defense to insure peace. It is also in favor of the universal draft bill now before congress, as a step toward peace. This bill gives the president of the United States the power to draft all men and women as well as all other resources of America in the event of war, and to fix prices for commodities and labor in such emergency. This will tend to remove interfering the incentive for war in other states in conclusion.

Her Secret Beautifier
Easy on Her Friends

Miss C. Delano, Washington, writes: "About two years ago I was bothered a great deal with a ruddy, sallow and pimply skin. I found I could cover the blemishes with cosmetics, but this was only a temporary relief. My druggist recommended your purely vegetable laxative, and suggested my trouble might be constipation. After taking a short while I noticed a wonderful difference. My complexion has improved, also headaches, indigestion and biliousness never bothered me any more."

ORGANIZATION CITED AS FARMERS' NEED

is Road to Solution of Problems, State Speaker Says at County Meeting

The Marion County Farm Bureau, which is the largest of the Marion County organizations, held its annual meeting at the end of the year had the process of the Livestock Association in this county.

The Marion County Farm Bureau for the year 1928 with 239 members and by the end of the year had increased the membership to 312, which through the new membership plan that was organized by the Farm Bureau officials in Crawford and Marion counties, was stated.

This new plan was used with good results in the months of January and February. Under the plan, Crawford county officials would send solicitors into Marion county to work the farm district provided Marion county furnished the means of transportation. On the next day the plan would be reversed with Marion county sending the solicitors into Crawford.

The first time that this plan was worked in June, Marion county benefited to the extent of 19 new members. When it was tried again in October, Crawford county procured 18 members and Marion 25.

600 Hold Insurance

Also, according to Mr. Sours' report, there are at the present time over 600 holders of Farm Bureau Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. policies in this county.

Marion county was also the home distributing place for all seed potatoes furnished in the state of Ohio by the Farm Bureau, Mr. Sours stated.

In the financial report of the Marion branch of the Ohio Farm Bureau Corporation it was revealed that the gross sale from the commodities handled by the local county reached $89,000 for the past year. The Marion branch of the Ohio Farm Bureau Corporation is the organization that handles all of the commodities sold by the Marion County Farm Bureau.

In his report on the Marion County Live Stock Cooperative Association, Mr. Sours stated that the local organization had an increase of 100.8 per cent over 1927 in the number of individual shippers that are getting the benefit of cooperative livestock marketing.

Market Service

During the past year the association marketed for the farmers of Marion county 5,500 hogs, 330 cattle, 280 calves, 3,850 sheep as a total of 126 floors with a gross market value of $131,000 at a cost of 65 cents per hundred-weight. Out of this 68 cents, four cents is deducted for every shipment to cover losses.

During the past year the Marion county association paid out $250 on losses incurred in shipping but collected $150 in return from the railroads for damage.

Since Sept. 1 last year, the Marion County association has been loading livestock every Wednesday.

The plan of farm relief proposed in the Ohio legislature is practically the same plan as has been worked by the Farm Bureau of Ohio for the past year or so, Mr. Weed stated.

There are at the present time 600,000,000 million farms in the U. S. and 240,000 in Ohio alone. It is useless to think of fighting the combined forces of capital, powerful financial units in the business world of today, unless the great numbers of farmers can combine in some way and work as a unit, Mr. Weed continued.

Concluding his talk he touched on the work of the Farm Bureau in the past year and told of its great growth in Ohio. His closing statement revealed the fact that the money paid back to Ohio farmers in patronage dividends on their cooperative purchases was more than they paid into Ohio Farm Bureau in dues in the past year.

Miss Elzinger dwelt mainly on the importance of the improvement of community life in the rural districts of Ohio. There are eight cardinal points in the development of rural life of today, she stated. They are, first, good practical homes, a good educational program, satisfactory roads and communications, a wholesome recreational center and social life, an effective way of protection of health and safety, and maintenance of appearance in the average country home of today.

Picnic dinner at noon was furnished by the wives of the members of the Farm Bureau. Music for dinner hour was furnished by John Schwingler's four-piece orchestra.

"NAVY UNPREPARED FOR WAR" -- WILBUR

Testimony Given Before House Committee Made Public

able to do everything we would like to do toward keeping the fleet in readiness for war, and its condition in that respect is not, therefore, satisfactory.

"The department is aware that a considerable amount of desirable repair work is deferred; reports from the forces abroad indicate, in this connection, that funds for navy yard overhauls are inadequate. While these desirable repairs do not militate greatly against peace-time operation, their deferred detracts from the general reliability of vessels. This would be felt particularly during war-time operations at which time the repair facilities will be meager and congested with work of an urgent character."

Explaining that the inactive fleet is deteriorating due to lack of funds for repairs, Wilbur said: "So far as war-readiness is concerned, the inactive fleet is generally unready."

Stating that the navy had sought $7,000 men for the navy instead of the $4,000 allowed by the budget, Wilbur said:

"The number has been determined by the president, and while we will frankly present to the committee any information with regard to the needs of the personnel, it should be understood that in that presentation we are not seeking to overturn the president's act and the act of the bureau of the budget in fixing the number of men the navy should have next year."

It is the "system" that deprives you of your rights more than it is individuals.

Here's More on Trial of State Treasurer Buckley

Treasurer is then alleged to have offered Eckhart $300 a month and promised him political influence to obtain for him the job of state prohibition commissioner of Ohio.

Met His Story

Eckhart, speaking from the witness stand, said Monday that Buckley mentioned the names of Gov. Myers, V. Cooper, and U. S. Senator Simon, Fess, as two "higher ups" who were anxiously watching the results of the bribery case. Yesterday, under cross-examination, he denied that Buckley mentioned the two Republicans, but said that Buckley had intimated that Cooper and Fess were "interested."

Just before he left the witness stand, Judge Benson W. Hough, who is presiding, gave the dry officer a chance to clear up his conflicting statements and Eckhart told his first story over again and said it was the truth.

The federal official was plainly nervous on the stand. At one time when he was returning a report to Henry B. Whitely, judge after attorney, his hand shook. This could be seen across the courtroom.

Stenographer Testifies

Mrs. Maude Carson, stenographer in the prohibition office, also testified yesterday. She was one of the witnesses when the dictagraph records of conversations between Buckley and Eckhart were recorded. She read the conversations and was discredited. Don Griffin was then called to the stand. He was the other witness at the dictagraph proceedings.

He admitted that he was only part of the conversations and that he heard few references to "bribe, treachery and bribery" in those conversations.

The defense is plainly trying to show that while Buckley was conversed with getting the job of state prohibition director for Eckhart, the city agent was "leading Buckley into a trap."

Schrimper and Sperber, who were jointly indicted with Buckley and who pleaded guilty when arraigned, are expected to also assume the witness stand.

Courtroom Crowded

The courtroom itself presented a striking scene. Buckley and his wife, and their pretty 23-year-old daughter, both sat at the defense counsel's table. Buckley is an attorney, himself, and often leaned forward and prompted his counsel.

Men and women crowded the little room. They were lined six deep in doorways and stood along the walls. At times during the trial a laugh was uttered by the onlookers. One of the attorneys made reference to a "judge riding a beer truck." Judge Hough asked if the attorney was referring to any judge present.

Buckley is seemingly confident as to the outcome of the trial. He chatted gaily incessantly. The picture made by Buckley and his wife and daughter sitting in the courtroom to gather, presented the portrayal of the ideal American family. His wife and daughter were a visible comfort to the witness.

Charles L. Hubbert, federal investigator, was the first witness to take the stand this morning. He said he was ordered to Eckhart's home on the night of Dec. 3, the night of a meeting between Buckley and Eckhart. His testimony supported that given by Eckhart yesterday. Hubbert related that when Eckhart asked Buckley where the promised $300 a month was to come from, the treasurer said "they give so much for each keg of beer."

Buckley said, according to Hubbert, that if the federal officer, who raided the Jackson brewery in Cincinnati, had come a few minutes earlier they would have found "a judge riding on a beer truck," which was said to have been transported the beer to a train reserved for American Legion members en route to the national convention in Texas.

On cross-examination Hubbert admitted that he had not a complete record of the conversations between Buckley and Eckhart. Attorney Robert M. Brumbaugh, Dayton, cross-questioned the witness.

Hubbert stated that the conference

MORRILL GIRLS LOSE FIRST GAME, 21-15

Pleasant Loses Inter-Sectional Boys' Contest, 17 to 10

In an inter-sectional Marion county league contest, Pleasant and Morrill high school eagles last night broke even in games played at Pleasant.

The Morrill girls were given their first defeat of the season when they lost to Pleasant, 21 to 15. Court scored 11 of Pleasant's points.

Morrill gained revenge when its boys' team pulled through with a 17 to 10 win over Pleasant. Brown was high scorer of the game with eight points from four baskets. The lineups:

A number of tables were placed on the floor, honors going to Mrs. Walter Carter and J. A. Ballard. Luncheon was served by the committee in charge. The next meeting of the council will be Feb. 12.

DEBT IN COUNTY NEAR 4 MILLION

The amount of $217,020.20 were received during the 15-month period. Other bonds redeemed amounted to $340,070.81. New bond issues were $145,000 for special assessments and $145,000 for the general fund.

City schools have a debt of $724,000, exclusive of a $75,000 bond issue authorized by voters last November. The school debt was reduced $30,000 during the 15 months covered by the report. The debt originally was $811,000.

County Debt Figures

The county's share of the debt, for county purposes alone, is $673,330.46. This amount includes debts covered by bonds in the amount of $310,251.40 which will eventually be paid in the form of special assessments for property owners. The county redeemed new bonds amounting to $184,780.38. The net reduction was $110,500.42 the debt 15 months ago having been $784,000.58.

Villages in the county are in debt to the extent of $19,201.05. This is more than a $20,000 increase during the period covered by the report. On June 30, 1927, the village debt was $25,510.16. Although $6,000 worth of bonds were redeemed there were new issues of $29,001.79. Only a small portion of the village debt is to cover special assessments.

The townships of the county have a total debt of $35,032. This is an increase from $11,700. New bonds totalling $27,147 were issued. These, however, are all for special assessments. Bonds amounting to $3,285 were redeemed.

County public schools, not including city schools, are in debt to the extent of $506,255.91. This represents a decrease of $61,760.61, the amount of bonds redeemed in the last 15 months. No new bonds were issued.

PROGRAM GIVEN AT GRANGE MEETING

Grand Pacific Grange No. 2870 met last night in the school building, north of the city and enjoyed a program. A month-harp solo was given by Mrs. A. L. Lounsbury, accompanied at the piano by her son, Forest Lounsbury. Misses Mary Campbell and Margaret Hartman gave a vocal duet. Names of favorite flowers were given in response to roll call. In the officers:

STOMACH UPSET

Get at the real cause. That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to pinch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the liver cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach trouble.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, doctored feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with indigestion, food? Take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. Know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. All Druggists.

clergyman to pay a fine of $250 for circulating the bogus Knights of Columbus oath
during the recent presidential campaign can hardly be held to make manifest the evil of mixing religion and politics. In this particular case it was the lack of religion which led to criminal life.

What price heroism? Walter Trautlin, one of the American rescue crew, faces arrest for the desertion, two years ago, of his wife, who did not know of his whereabouts till she read his name in the list of heroes.

Possibly he is honest about the matter,
but the request of Governor Johnston, of Oklahoma, for funds with which to employ council to the impeachment proceeding against him, alleging that he is "broke," looks
in this distance a lot like a gesture.

One of the survivors of the Vesuvius disaster
has been sentenced to four and a half years
in the Maryland penitentiary for the embezzlement of $6,500 from a loan society of which he was manager. He's better off than the average criminal whose death sentence is commuted. Usually the prison sentences in such cases is for life.

Just a Little Oversight.

It's a bit amusing to note the attitude taken by the papers of Italy regarding the falling-off in tourist travel there. That there has been a marked falling-off is manifest by the complaints of business houses that their sales to visitors have dwindled, and the reports that it is the exceptional hotel, restaurant or boarding-house which did little more than make expenses last year.

There is a manifest movement on to win back the lost trade and restore it to what it was several years ago, when Italy was overrun by armies of tourists who had learned that the land could be toured for less than the cost of living at home, but the Italian papers will not admit that such is the purpose of the movement. They hold its purpose is to induce Italians to become acquainted with their own country and appreciate it as its full worth.

By way of illustration, the Impero says that foreigners will be tolerated, should they visit Italy, if they come in an acceptable frame of mind, but that Italy is not particularly anxious to have them come. He holds that foreign tourists are more of a nuisance than a benefit, especially so if they are poor and come in great organized drives, and that even more objectionable are those who make lavish showings of wealth and act as though they owned the country, expecting natives
to stand aside for them at all times, and then pay badly for the services they receive.

That line about foreigners being "tolerated" in Italy is really funny, when considered in connection with the fact that in stations, hotels, government buildings and many other public and semi-public places,
placards bearing the names of King Victor Emmanuel III and Premier Benito Mussolini
are exposed in which Italians are admonished to treat all foreign tourists with the utmost fairness and courtesy and facilitate in every way possible, the opportunities for such tourists to see Italy at its best, the placards going on to express the appreciation of the government of the visits made to Italy by foreigners.

Before the Impero began to talk about tolerating visits by foreigners, it should have seen to it that the placards of the government were removed.

The President's Warning.

President Coolidge had good ground, in addressing the business organization of the government in Washington Monday night, for speaking with pride of the drastic economies which have been worked in eight years under the budget system and for depreciating the rapidly-mounting expenditures of state and municipal governments.

Preceding a solemn warning that much is yet to be done in the way of exercising economy to accomplish the wiping out of our national debt of $17,000,000,000, the president pointed to the following accomplishments of the federal government in the last eight years:

Expenditures reduced from $5,000,000,000
to $3,000,000,000 annually.
Debt reduced by $6,667,000,000.
Interest saved, $963,000,000.
Saved for the people, $2,000,000,000 in taxation.

Relieved 2,500,000 persons from federal taxation altogether.

"The greatest menace to the continuance of prosperity," the president held, "is the steady drain of state and local finances on the earnings of the people, which has increased by leaps and bounds as the burden of the national debt and national expenditures has been lightened."

"It is a red flag warning us of the danger of depression and a repetition of the disaster
which overtook the country in the closing days of 1928," President Coolidge declared.
"It is a warning that should be heeded by every one entrusted with the expenditure or appropriation of public funds."

"It is the reason that further commitments
by the national government for any new projects not absolutely necessary should be standfastly resisted."

The president has given repeated warnings
of the menace which lurks in the lavish expenditures of states and municipalities. So have the governors of the various states, our own governor among them. The newspapers of the land have editorially given notice of the threatening situation; economists and financial writers have spoken and written in similar vein. And yet the mad urge of spending goes on just as though there is never to be a day of reckoning.

And the sad phase of the situation is that our legislative bodies, state and municipal,
lack the backbone to protect the public from itself, for it is usually the demand which springs from the public, or a part of the public, which causes the spending of public funds in total beyond all sense or reason.

Reforms, philanthropies, improvements,
social services—all the things over and above the essentials—which go to increase the tax burden may be favorably considered as desirable if there is in sight the means of paying for them, but if financial disaster
is to be averted, states and municipalities must soon cease mortgaging the future to meet present-day demands for non-essentials.

New York is planning to expend $9,000,000
for a three-and-a-half-mile drive on the East river shore. Such a drive might serve an utilitarian purpose, but it's hardly likely that it will ever pass as a scenic highway.

St. Austen Chamberlain presents the recent utterances of Ramsey MacDonald, Dean Inge and George D. Shaw on the subject of our unruly program, asserting that "professional pacifism" is doing more to arouse ill-feeling between Great Britain and the United States than any other agency. It sounds reasonable. The "professional pacifist"
are making the most of our trouble over here.

The two new North German Lloyd liners, Europa and Bremen, are to be equipped with unsinkable lifeboats, each capable of carrying 145 persons, sixty per cent. more than any now in use. If there really is such a thing as an unsinkable lifeboat, why should not every liner be equipped with them?

There was such a marked demand for the pumpkins raised by an Iowa farmer that the officers of Red Oak became suspicious, with the result that each pumpkin was discovered to contain a pint bottle of whisky which had been inserted by the plugging process. Evidently this Iowa agriculturist had abandoned
hope of congressional relief and started out to work a little farm relief of his own.

Senator Capper, of Kansas, has introduced a constitutional amendment to exclude all aliens from the census counts on which the apportionments of congressmen and presidential electors are based. Why not? Why permit aliens to influence the election of our presidents and the make-ups of the lower house of congress?

Cash and stock amounting to $13,968,000
are to be distributed among the 12,033 employees of the General Motors corporation, the plan being to pay each employee, who in 1923
turned in $500 of his wages, $115 in 1928
and twenty-seven shares of the new common stock having a market value of $50 a share,
or a total of $2,415. Owners of General Motors products should be proud of the big melon cutting they have made possible.

Congress has given the Chicago fair its official O. K., with the condition that the city must raise $5,000,000 before the president is authorized to invite the participation of foreign nations. Huh! A little like that will never bother Chicago. Horber barons alone should be willing to contribute that in recognition of the extended opportunities the fair will offer them.

George B. Parker, of New York, who for several years made a specialty of selling the Brooklyn bridge to "innocents," faces a prison sentence for the remainder of his life
for passing a bogus check, having previously received four prison sentences. The same old story. Another man will soon be made to appreciate the fact that sooner or later
the criminal is bound to be caught in the meshes
of the law.

Sclerosis Not Inherited

BY ROYAL S. COVELAND, M. D.

From time to time one of my readers begs for an article on some particular subject. I try to respond to every such appeal, but there are so many things to talk about that it isn't easy to cover all the ailments.

As a matter of fact, I am not interested in diseases nearly as much as I am in such matters
of living as will prevent the development of diseases. To live such a life that you can snap your finger at disease, is much better and wiser than to spend a lifetime in getting rid of an ailment.

There are many disorders of the body. When one of them appears it is natural for the patient and his friends to ask a lot of questions. They want to know all about the nature of the disease. To live such a life that you can snap

Twenty Years Ago.

It was Saturday, January 20.

Heavy earthquake shocks were experienced in southern Europe and northern Africa.

The Marion basketball team defeated
Galion, twenty-nine to twenty-seven.

The fall end of the western blizzard struck Marion. It was the worst storm of the winter. So fierce was the wind that the snow-covered streets were practically deserted.

George Whysall received word that he had been elected vice president of the Central Electric Railway association.

The Twigs were entertained by the Misses Hane at the home of Mrs. O. S. Rapp, the day before, so the Star stated, the honors at cards going to Miss Salter.

The Warner & Edwards company was incorporated with an authorized capital of $75,000.

T. R. Allen was acting steward of the Commercial club, temporarily succeeding G.
Lippincott, resigned.

Dr. Horatio Chisholm announced his near departure for Cleveland, where he is now
British consul.

Henry Drake slipped and fell, tearing loose
the ligaments of his right foot.

Marriage licenses were issued to Odessa
B. Clutter and Richard Gamble and to Orpha
M. Sherman and George M. Kunz.

William James Brewer, aged nineteen, was adopted by Mr. and Mrs. William Wren.

THE PARTY AT DOORN.

Herr Wilhelm Hohenzollern entertained yesterday at Doorn, Holland, a large number of distinguished guests on the occasion of his seventieth birthday anniversary. The gathering was a most distinguished assemblage of former dignitaries.

There were former kings, former crown princes,
former princes and, receiving them all and recipient of their felicitations, was the former emperor of Germany. A prevailing custom of the male members of the dynasty was military in character, the host himself appearing in the uniform
of the First Guard regiment of Germany, of which he was once titular commander. Unfortunately the lady of the house, consort of the former emperor, was unable to attend the festivities, owing to an acute indisposition, due it is reported, to the unconformably close approach of certain members of the host's family, who have in the past expressed themselves in uncompromising terms regarding her. Otherwise the affair was altogether brilliant and happy. There were toasts at Doorn. There were references to the glorious past of Germany and hints of a possible return to power of the Hohenzollerns. There were many costly birthday presents from those in attendance and from absent admirers. There were showers of letters and telegrams of felicitation.

But while this festive occasion was being observed, with its attendant anticipation of renewed glory and power, in Germany itself no
echo of approval was heard. The press was polli-tely not so fervent. It recognized the significance of the seventieth anniversary, but not as a portent of return to power. It stressed somewhat the author of the spectacle presented at Doorn, the
circumstances of his life, but not as a portent of return to power. It stressed somewhat the author of the spectacle presented at Doorn, the
circumstances of his life, but not as a portent of
return to power.

Wilhelm Hohenzollern regards himself, doubtless sincerely, as a victim, not of his own mistakes,
but of the machinations of others, the malevolence
of his enemies, the tragedy of undeserved fate. He thunders about the world, he laments the present
days were noble and humane and statesmanlike.
He attributes the chief incitation of the world horror that broke in 1914 to Russia. It is to be noted that in his excursions into the field of disputation regarding the conflict he does not cast aspersions upon France or England. To none of the now-going governments does he attribute the blame for the war. He has learned something of diplomacy in his retirement.

It would seem that nobody reckons at all seriously upon the birthday party at Doorn as a factor of future adjustments in Germany. The day of congratulation has been made an occasion
of pleasant exchanges, of a bit of fancy-dress parading and of kindly felicitation. But there is nothing in the affair warranting any rise in the kaiser stock in the market. — Washington Star, January 28.

THE ONE WHO FAILED.

Theodoros Pangalos ruled as dictator of Greece
from January till August, 1926. Since the latter date he has been in jail. Now Pangalos, together with four of his former political associates, is about to be tried on various capital charges. In all likelihood he will go back to jail after the trial. Perhaps he will remain in jail from then on.

Pangalos will, however, be more fortunate than the wretched Gounaris who with his chief ministers was let out and shot by a firing squad for having lost the disastrous war against the Turks. Gounaris was not admired outside of Greece, but his savagery punishment shocked the rest of the world.
Venizelos will not permit Pangalos to be put to death, though it appears that the fallen dictator
was a far more serious offender than Gounaris.

In addition to having overthrown constitutional democracy Pangalos is charged with various pecu-lations which are altogether unbecoming.

Pangalos is today the only failed dictator in Europe. All the other men who have seized autocratic power and abrogated constitutional government are still doing business with no sign of weakness. Mussolini, Caramazza, Primo de Rivera, Fil-sufski and Alexander Karageorgiev have adequate support to assure durability, and they are, without exception, imposing figures, far above even the superficial of such meanness as is alleged against Pangalos.

Greece today is very fortunate. She has as leader one of the greatest statesmen of the century. Eleutherios Venizelos will not make the mistake of permitting Pangalos to be a martyr.
Jail or exile will undoubtedly be the future of the one dictator who failed. — Cleveland Plain Dealer.

McIntyre on Vacation.

BY O. O. MCINTYRE.

Paris, Jan. 20.—Paris is a paradise for the prover. One may turn off from a turbulent roaring boulevard and its flashy throng into a narrow, winding and desolate street, to see perhaps only a lone figure perfectly sketching a wisp of cloud. This morning with my dog I set forth early.

Paris was going—suffering is a better term
—to work. The corrugated shutter fronts of the shops had been raised. Buses bulged with chattering loads. Bearded Frenchmen with handle-bar mustaches were peddling madly. Teamsters screamed, their dogs—every teamster has his dog—yipped, and street cries blew their horns.

Nothing is quite so vibrant as an early Paris morning. It has a hum. Crossing over to the left bank I strolled, one never walks briskly here, along the quay beyond the chamber of deputies and toward the Ile de la Cite
—the original site of Paris. In one of the esplanades a traveling circus was beginning its day.

"Strong man" in tattered tights was braving the chill to lift weights for a sleep-ey hand. A wheezy carroussel at this hour had two customers and a few drivers had deserted two-wheeled carts to test their luck at a huge spinning gambling wheel. It was all as depressing as the chilly mist.

Further along were the famous Halles des Vins with their enormous casks of wine and pumpkins, four odorous ponderous low-slung trucks, drawn by teams of six and eight horses, were being loaded for a part of the day's whoopee water consumption. On the Seine, the poor were doing their washing in municipal laundry boats.

Turning into a lit side street that proved a blind alley, I dropped into a chair at a sidewalk table. A bar woman finally came out of the dingy door yawning. And learning
my desire was safe as I sat, I tripled the scow-
l. I imagine the same effect could be had ordering a hot dog at the Ritz.

Everywhere women, welded needles, some knitting as they strolled. Men only idled.
Women symbolize the industry of France in poorer sections. The promenade finally took me past an infamous cafe where waitresses wait on trade as nature. I hurried by with eyes cast demurely down, blushing like everybody.

One of the omnipresent figures in the region of the Place Vendome is the American, E. Berry Wall. You always see him. He wears the same type of huge puff and harling pointed choke collar that distinguished him in the days when, as New York's fashion plate, his 700 suits of clothes were always good for a Sunday feature story. Every afternoon he may be found at Rumpelmayer's at tea-time with his chow. He is one of the last of New York's vanishing aristocrats of the nineties, and he, and his wife are not only active in American charities, but extremely popular with the self-exiled.

Count Boni de Castellane, the discarded husband of Anna Godoy, is also to be found where Americans gather, dancing his exquisite attendance upon rich old ladies of leisure.
A French bull dog, too, is his constant companion.

Count Boni reminds me that never in Paris have I seen the sort of dog and paper type of French count—the sort with high, peaked silk
hats, waxed mustache and slim imperial, high-
heeled shoes and such. Boni, for instance,
might be an ordinary type of merchant here-
abouts, or even a third baseman in the Southern league. Several other counts I have believed do not look unlike the prosperous farmer
types one sees on Parisian feasts. But maybe the count business these days is not up to scratch.

An outstanding trait of the French is what we would instantly class as trickiness, but is not so regarded by natives. It is not vicious, but annoying. Today in a Rue St. Honoré
shop I asked for a certain brand of shaving soap. The proprietor almost prostrated himself trying to sell another brand. I feared an unpleasant seizure, but bravely held out for what I came for. Finally, with a deprecating shrug and the hurt, wounded expression of a stricken dog, he wrapped up the package and handed it to me. At home I found the son of a gun had sold me the brand he touted.

I used to fly into a rage over such shenanigans and scorn back to the shops like a French count—the sort with high, peaked silk
hats, waxed mustache and slim imperial, high-
heeled shoes and such. Boni, for instance,
might be an ordinary type of merchant here-
abouts, or even a third baseman in the Southern league. Several other counts I have believed do not look unlike the prosperous farmer
types one sees on Parisian feasts. But maybe the count business these days is not up to scratch.

Immoral Literature.

BY GARRETT F. SERRIES.

Are we indeed living in an age of abandon to the most brutish instincts of alloyed nature? Must we see the highest ideals of human life scoffed at by sneering charges of hypocrisy, accompanied by pretended anxiety to promote self-knowledge, meaning only knowledge of how to get the greatest amount of pure animal enjoyment out of life, and to do it with the greatest attainable degree of security against disagreeable consequences? Is there indeed a master spirit of evil abroad, growing momentarily in power, which, with devil insinuity and pitiless insistence, strives to slide in the human heart that voice of conscience, which is humanity's sheet anchor
amidst the storms of untamed passion?

I ask myself these questions upon receiving through the mail an envelope filled with the familiar blurb about "prudery," "frankness
of speech," "ignorance of life," and other catch-words of the promoters of the literature of nakedness and stupration, accompanied with persuasions to buy certain romances revealing "Parisian life and love," contained in "3,000 flaming pages of living reality,"
in the same enclosure I am informed that
"reading these fascinating books, engrossing
and thrilling from page to page, there will pass before your vision an amazing procession of impassioned damsels, and Parisian beauties grand dames and wenches, husbands and treacherous lovers, and low-down courtesans, courtesans, roués and noblemen, scholars, artists, and their beautiful models. You will meet women beautiful and delightful and desirable—women who ravished the eyes, captivated
the souls, troubled the heart, and lives of men."

And the reward offered to me for reading all this stuff is that: "

Few succeed without harm. Try the modern way embodied in Marmola's diet. People have used them for 20 years—millions of boxes of them. The results are seen everywhere. Marmola contains a gland element which helps turn food into fuel and energy. The formula appears in every box, also the reason for results. Thus you will know how the change occurs without harm. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Go start it now. Take four tablets daily until weight comes down to normal. Do this because of the new beauty and slim which Marmola has brought to so many, for so long.

DOZEN YEARS OF SUFFERING END; KONJOLA PRAISED Grateful Lady Happy To Urge All To Try New Medicine That Restored Her Health

MRS. J. C. PAULOSKO

Remarkable, but true, it appears that Konjola is at the very apex of its powers when all else has failed. How frequently this is proved, as in the case of Mrs. J. C. Paulosko, R. F. D. No. 2, Painesville, Ohio. Jubilant over the magnificent results she found in this master medicine, she says: "Konjola is almost magical. I marvel when I reflect on what this splendid medicine did for me. For twelve years indigestion, kidney and liver troubles and constipation made life miserable. For twelve years nothing helped me. I had little faith, but friends insisted that I give Konjola a chance. I consented, and what a wise thing that was. Four bottles of this astounding compound turned the trick. In one month the ills of twelve years were ended; in one month all my pain and suffering were swept away. Konjola is the champion of all medicines. It must be to take hold of a protracted case like mine and conquer it in so short a time. I am told that Konjola is the medicine with more than a million friends. Well, it has won another lifelong friend in me." Konjola is different than any other known remedy in this section. It contains 22 juices extracted from natural plants which incorporate the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels to a more healthy action. The effect of this Konjola on the entire system brings amazing relief in cases of suffering that has been going on for years. At the same time, many weak and rundown systems have been restored to a new state of health through this compound. Such a vast number of men and women in this city have told of their experience with this new medical compound, until now, Konjola is the most highly endorsed medicine that is known in this section. Konjola is sold in Marion at Stump & Sams Pharmacy and by all the best druggists throughout this section.—Ad.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helps Her So Much
Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I was just completely run-down. I had tired, heavy, sluggish feelings and I could not eat. I was losing weight. I read so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what a good medicine it is, that I started taking it. I have taken eight bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and about the same in tablet form. This is one medicine a woman should have in the house all the time. I am improving every day and I am able to eat. I am willing to answer any letters asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. ELIA RICHARDS, 21 Chautauque st., N. S. Pittsburgh, Pa.

Love's Awakening

The Heart Story of a Woman's Lasting Affections

BY ADELE GARRISON

Lillian Expounds Some Comforting Theories
THERE was a sureness of conviction about Lillian's words which quieted my nerves and enabled me to obey her command to relax and listen to her explanation of the imitation jewel episode as she saw it.

"I shall be glad to listen," I told her.

"That's more than most people tell me," she retorted with a grin. "But I'll try not to talk you to death. However, there are several things to be said."

"She bent toward me and wagged an emphatic forefinger. "In the first place," she said, "I am holding no brief for Edith Fairfax. She's getting harder and more unmerciful every minute."

"You're rounding to," she said approvingly, then went on with her explanation of Edith's attitude.

"She'd have liked you to believe those things were real, a frightfully expensive gift, and that Edith had just bestowed it upon her. She wouldn't have cared what slanders influence you drew, just so she could flatter you and dishonor her husband."

Lillian's voice had lost its lightness, and I listened. It was as solemn as an old-fashioned preacher's as she finished, and I shivered involuntarily at the picture she was drawing of the woman who once had taunted me with the boast that she loved my husband far better than I could.

"That's right," Lillian said, breaking off her diatribe against Edith. "I want you to make a bit for I want you to know what you're up against with that lady. Not that she has a hundred to one chance with the Dickie-bird. If you and I were to meet forever tomorrow, the Fairfax woman would not have a chance to grab him, not in a thousand years. But though I think she knows that little thing, down in the lump of adamant she calls her heart, yet that won't keep her from pulling my little—or big—stunt. She can which would widen the breach between you."

I scarcely heard her last words, so intent was I upon the assertion she had made concerning Edith's indifference to Edith.

"But," I said tremulously, "didn't you hear him when he answered her protest against talking the ornaments, and when he pulled her around facing the mirror, and told her to look at herself. His voice sounded so—"

"So sugary affectionate," Lillian finished, as my voice trailed away. "Of course it did. You ought to know by this time that the Dickie-bird can no more be fooled by his voice to that searching jolly when he speaks to good looking woman, than he can keep from breathing. It doesn't mean a darned thing."

I made the dreary mental comment that it was a long time since I had heard that particular infliction in my husband's voice, but somehow I knew that Lillian's theory was the correct one, and that there had been nothing unusual, nothing to cause me any uneasiness in that colloquy of my husband and his business partner.

"There's one thing certain," Lillian went on. "That yarn about the designer, and the ad and the story Edith is writing for the magazine, and the offer of the firm to give Dickie the jewelry is all true. I haven't listened to the Dickie-bird tell all kinds—true, half true and made up from the whole cloth—all these years without knowing absolutely when he's lying. I know that side of him better than you do. And this one was the goods absolutely."

"About the rest of it, I'm not so sure," she went on slowly. "That Edith admired the things, and that Dickie good-naturedly dug down in his jeans and paid for one for her is most probable. He'd have done the same thing for anybody working with him, you know that. And then, no doubt Edith did a particularly good piece of work on the stunt and he thought she was entitled to one of the things. But that he planned the wholesale distribution he staged tonight, I very much doubt. Factually, that was a distinct tribute to you old dear."

OFFICERS NAMED

Election Held at All-Day Meeting of St. Paul's Church Auxiliary

Mrs. R. O. Hopkins was elected president, Mrs. Charles Allen, vice president and Mrs. Ruth Gorbam, secretary-treasurer, of the Woman's Auxiliary, St. Paul's Episcopal church, at an all-day meeting yesterday. It was decided that the women will see on Thursday of each week during Lent for the Red Cross and that the Daughters of Grace, another society of the church, will see on Tuesday of each week during the same period. Communion was taken at 9:30 and from 10 to 11 o'clock a study class was held. At noon a luncheon was served by a committee comprising Mrs. Charles Allen, Mrs. Thomas Scott, Mrs. H. A. Amann and Miss Marie Ruehmann. The afternoon was spent in sewing for missions. In two weeks a sewing meeting and tea will be held at the parish house.

INSPECTION HELD

National Secretary Attends Meeting of Local Sorority

Miss Suzanne B. Cash, of Terre Haute, Ind., national secretary of Theta Theta Theta sorority, was inspecting officer at the annual examination and inspection held last night in the Kappa Alpha Phi club rooms, East Center st. The 13 active members were present. Books were inspected and an examination on the constitution of the sorority made.

Miss Cash returned to Terre Haute this morning.

"The girls made wonderful grades in the examination, and the books were above the average," Miss Cash said this morning.

WILL SING "THAIS"

Mary Garden to Be in Leading Role of Opera at Columbus

"Thais," based on the romance of the same name written by Anatole France, will be sung Tuesday night, Feb. 19 in the Columbus Auditorium, with an elaborate cast of the Chicago Civic Opera Co. headed by Mary Garden. Mrs. James C. Woods, Mrs. Karl Schell, Ernst C. Carl and Henry Ackerman have been chosen as members of the Central Ohio committee of the Columbus Grand Opera association. Marion patrons of music will be interested not only in this opera, but also in "Carmen" and "Faust," which will be presented Feb. 18 and 20.

The role of Thais is said by many critics to be Miss Garden's greatest. Supporting Miss Garden will be Jose Mojica, young Mexican tenor, singing the role of Nicias, and George Formica, as Athanasi, the monk.

Alexandria and the Egyptian desert, in the early Christian era, are the scenes of opera. Athanasi, a Coptic monk, returns to his convent haunted by the thoughts of the sinful life of Thais, courtesan of Alexandria. His efforts to convert Thais to a better life succeed after eloquent pleading, and she finally comes to him repentant. The palace of Thais is burned and in the excitement, Athanasi and Thais escape. Thais enters a convent but Athanasi after returning to his retreat, no longer finds peace, continually thinking of Thais. Awakened by a dream of Thais dying, Athanasi enters the convent and implores her return to earthly life with him. Thais refuses and dies, a repentant woman.

Jubilee's Pardner

A Story of Boyhood Adventure

BY JUD M. LEWIS

WHEN I woke up this morning I said thinking how tomorrow will be the last day of this month and I have not got a cent towards getting anyone a valentine, even if I wanted to; which I do. I will be glad, like I told my father while we were all feeding our faces this morning, when I get long britches and a pair of whiskers and a job and a regular payday, so I will always have a cent towards getting anyone a valentine. Every body stopped eating till it was so bad they could hear a pin drop, still anyone could hear a pin drop, and my father asked me who I wanted to buy a valentine for, and I said no one. So then they all began to eat again and my hint didn't get me anything.

My father told me after he had thought it out that when I got big enough to have a regular payday I would probably have a regular wife to take my pay away from me, and that wouldn't make any difference, because then I wouldn't want to buy anyone a valentine. Then my mother said, "Darlingest, aren't you going to send me a valentine this year?" and my father said, "Do you remember the little Cubie in his shirttail with a bow and arrow I sent you that time?" and my mother said, "Yes, beautiful, I shall never forget it."

My father said, "Neither shall I. Before the next Valentine day came around I was married, and I haven't had the money or inclination to send anyone a valentine since." Then my mother told him all right. She said if he didn't send her a valentine there was lots of people that would be glad to. And my father said, oh, if she wanted a comic he could fix it up. And then I went out to get the bunch and go to school or somewhere, because I could see I wasn't going to get any drink, and I might get blamed for starting something.

When we were all going to the school yard Pollock Dooley from down under the hill was at the school gate with a dog on a string that looked like his sides were made out of washboards and that he hadn't been fed since he was a dog, and Pollock said he had brought him to trade to me for Jubilee, and I said he hadn't. And he said his dog was a full-blooded dog, and I was lucky that he would trade him for my cat. I told him he could call me anything he wanted to but he couldn't call my dog anything, and when the principle came we were fastened together so tight that she had ribs and the lunch carry us inside before she could get us apart. Pollock went home with what he calls a "skint" nose and I stayed in school with one. The principle said I done right.

artistocratic. "And my name is Harriet Perkins." The operator perused the card, dropped it on the table, and resumed the glass of whisky. "You'll pardon me just finishing my supper," said he, in the tone not of a question but of a positive assertion, and emptied the glass. "I adore this little house here," Harriet remarked, in the way of conversation. It was true; she did. "Oh!" "It seems so natural," said she. "Yes." "And it's so male. Women's wigwags are so frightfully prim," Harriet added. "Are they?" "Never seen one." "Are you listening to anything just now?" she asked, indicating his ear-ornaments. "No. There's nothing at the moment."

Lady in Distress

"You don't mind if I slip off this overcoat, do you? It's Lord Furbur's."

A young man in shirt sleeves, with a listening apparatus which resembled a lara and ear-ornaments clasped about his devoted head, was ensconced in an arm-chair. His position was peculiar. He leaned his back against one of the arms of the chair, and his legs dangled freely over the other. In one hand he held a ragged paper-bound book, and in the other a glass of whisky. From his thin-lipped mouth dropped a cigarette.

"Good evening," said Harriet, throwing back the plenteous folds of Lord Furbur's fur overcoat. "I'm sorry," said wireless operator Tunicliff, without the least sign of confusion. He squirmed himself gracefully out of the chair, dropped the book, placed the glass very carefully on a table, and removed the cigarette from his mouth. He was tall and handsome—a contrast to his cousin—and his nostrils had a delicate curve. It was at once evident that he was a member of the caste which confers a favor on the world by condescending to be born.

"Is that your usual form of welcome, Mr. Tunicliff?" Harriet asked brightly. And she smiled, aware that the masculinity of the vast overcoat would increase rather than diminish her advantage.

"I apologize. Please take a chair," said the operator coolly, if not coldly. At any rate, he was in full possession of himself. "Important people," he explained, "important people don't knock. The rest are a nuisance, and I treat them as such."

"But I'm very important. At least I think I am," said Harriet, sitting down and arranging the coat as artistically as possible. "No doubt," the operator agreed calmly. "Do you object to smoking?"

"Not at all."

"Excuse me," said the operator searching for a jacket and putting it on in a corner. The fox joining his lara to the aerial magic followed him as he moved to and fro.

Harriet glanced at the room. It seemed to be divided into a business or professional half and a domestic half. The latter comprised a bed and bedstead, the lower part of which was a chest of drawers, a chair, a row of bottles, a rug, a pipe-rack and (on the side) two interesting prints cut from old numbers of La Vie Parisienne. Nothing was shipshape. Everything was untidy, and nearly everything was shabby. None of the drawers was quite shut and from several of them portions of attire indecently protruded. The top corner of one of the prints had escaped from its pin and hung over triangularly. The place seemed to be defiantly protesting: "No, I am not pitiful or pathetic. This is the way my owner likes me to be, and those who don't care for it can do the other thing."

"Please look at this," said Harriet, handing the visiting card to an outstretched hand, nicotine-stained and

Such a warm night, isn't it?" She emerged from the overcoat, and, having shed it, she also her wrap, and incidentally dropped her handbag. "I mustn't lose that," she said, picking it up. "It contains all my liquid resources. I always carry my traveler's cheques about with me, and it's a good thing to do. I got left behind on the yacht, you know; sort of innocent stowaway, and if I hadn't had my traveler's cheques just think how I should have been fixed—no clothes and no cheques—when I reached dry land again! I daresay you've heard how the yacht ran off with me."

"I did hear something. Now what's this 'distress' that Luke talks about?" "It's this," Harriet answered, displaying all her resources to be indignantly. "I haven't a rag except what you see. And I simply must have some clothes. I was wondering if you'd be so very kind as to send a wireless to Count Veranda at the Splendide at Naples asking to meet the yacht at Ostia with my trunk, and to wireless a reply that he is coming. He could get a maid to pack. Most of the trunks are packed already—I was meaning to leave Naples the day after tomorrow anyway. You see how tremendously important it is for me. . . . Would you?"

She leaned forward with bright eyes and parted lips, as if thirsting for the nectar of his affirmative response. Far from being a Tartar, he showed himself the quietest, coolest, most matter-of-fact thing imaginable.

"But the yacht isn't calling at Ostia," he said.

"No. Not as at present arranged," she said. "But of course it will call, when you receive the reply from Count Veranda."

"Well, perhaps," she would, said the operator. "I should be sorry to contradict you. But it would depend on the wording of the reply."

"Oh! That could be fixed," said Harriet obscurely.

"You aren't the first person tonight to ask me to send off a message."

The operator smiled. "Really?" she exclaimed, as though the information was of immense interest. "And did you?" "No. I couldn't oblige."

"But you'll oblige me, won't you?" "I should love to," the operator replied, placidly, unexceptionably, ruthlessly polite. "But I can't. I have my orders. And they are to send nothing out except what I receive from Lord Furbur or the captain."

"But Lord Furbur's ill. He's had an accident."

"So I believe," said the operator. "I'm sorry. Very sorry." He spoke with as much emotion as though he had heard the sad news that a great aunt's favorite Perkins had been suddenly struck down by car complaint.

"That leaves only the captain. Well, we all know the captain, and we know he wouldn't understand about the importance of a woman's clothes."

The Vamp

Harriet leaned back in her chair. "Your orders are quite definite?" "Quite."

"Well then, of course, you can't disobey them, even for a few minutes and to do a perfectly innocent job for a poor damsel in distress?"

Harriet gave him a humorous, detached, easy, friendly smile. "I can't." The operator spoke with equal detachment.

"Anyhow, there's no harm done, is there?"

"None."

"You'll think me very curious," said Harriet. "But do you wear those things on your ears all the time—for instance—in bed?"

"Not when I'm in bed," the operator replied. He went on as judicially as if he were describing the case of a third person. "You see it's like this. A ship is not allowed to send wireless messages while she's in port. Our voyages are generally very short. A dozen or 20 hours at the most. Few yachtsmen care for a day and a night at sea, especially owners of big yachts. They use their yachts more as hotels than ships. So when we do happen to be at sea, I sit up most of the time, as a rule."

"And read?"

"Yes."

"What's that book you were reading? I'm always frightfully interested in other people's lives." Harriet became eager.

"That's the Tauchnitz volume of Swinburne's 'Sonnets'."

"How amusing! And are you an 'honorable' like your cousin, Luke John?"

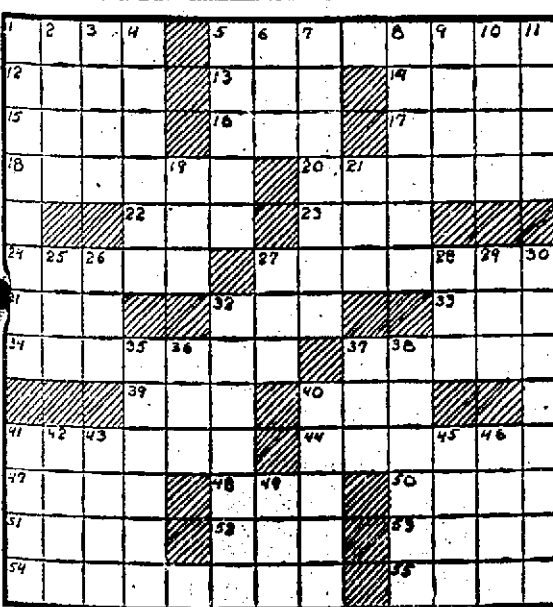

"No. How could I be?"

Von Weber Opera to be IN COLUMBIA BROADCAST Thursday Night Feature

Carl Von Weber's romantic opera, "Der Freischütz," will be the offering of the United Opera company at 8 o'clock Thursday night over stations associated with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

The real meaning of "Der Freischütz" is "free marksmanship," or a marksmanship who uses charmed bullets. The story of the opera is founded on an old German tradition that whenever a hunter will receive seven magic bullets with promises of a fresh supply in exchange for any other victims obtained for the demon.

In the opera, Max and Caspar are assistants to Cuno, head ranger to a Bohemian prince. Caspar is in the power of the demon Zamiel. Because he is jealous of Max's love for Cuno's daughter Agnes, and in order to prolong his own life, he persuades Max to seek the magician. Caspar, meanwhile, has arranged that one of Max's magic bullets shall kill Agnes, presumably by mistake, but his plans miscarry and he himself is killed. Zamiel carries him off. Max is forgiven and the usual happy ending takes place.

DEWEY'S LIFE STORY YIELDS PLOT FOR SKETCH

Ignored by most histories of the Spanish-American war because the incident never was reported officially, the delicate situation that arose between the American fleet and five German warships after the victory of Manila will be lifted from Commander Dewey's autobiography to be produced by station WLW as its historical highlight at 7:30 o'clock Thursday night.

AGED MAN DIES IN BARBER CHAIR

David Spitzer, 79, Succumbs
Suddenly, Victim of Heart Attack

David Spitzer, age 79, died suddenly shortly before 9 o'clock this morning while seated in a barber chair at the shop of Claude Gelander, East Center st. Heart disease is believed to have been the cause of death.

Mr. Spitzer had just seated himself in the chair, preparatory to being shaved, when the fatal attack came. His body was taken to the W. C. Boyd funeral home, South Main and Columbia sts.

Mr. Spitzer, a former employee of the Marion Street Shoe Co., and his wife have been living at the home of their daughter, Mrs. G. M. Roberts, 162 Chicago av.

He was born in Hardin county on Oct. 28, 1856 to Mr. and Mrs. David Spitzer and married Miss Annie Kelly in Kenton on Feb. 15, 1877. They moved to Marion in 1900. Mr. Spitzer was a member of Marion lodge, Wood, of the World, and of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church.

He is survived by two sons, William A. Spitzer, Pennsylvania av., and Walter D. Spitzer, Newark, O., two daughters, Mrs. G. M. Roberts, with whom he resided, and Mrs. J. A. Brown, Dunbar av., one brother, Emma Spitzer, of Kenton, one sister, Mrs. Maria Wood, of Hardin county, 12 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the Roberts home, 162 Chicago av., at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and at the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church at 2:15 o'clock, with the pastor, the Rev. John A. Carriger, in charge. Burial will be in Marion cemetery.

Hoover, Smith Go Their Separate Ways in Miami Beach After They Meet

Each Man Somewhat Relieved That Much-Heralded Session
Is Over; All Enjoying Florida to Fullest Extent; Contrast Between Two Men Revealed

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES
Marion Star Staff Writer

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Jan. 31—Herbert Hoover and Alfred E. Smith, rivals in the most spectacular presidential race the country ever saw, went their separate ways today in this gay winter playground, each somewhat relieved that their much-heralded meeting is over.

It isn't likely their paths will cross again, at least not in Miami, although both plan to be here for several weeks yet. Mr. Hoover is working to gain his only one and only diversion, and there is reason to suspect that even while he is making his lines his mind is occupied with other things—cabinet appointments, policies, messages to congress, and the thousand and one other things that will claim his attention after March 4.

Former Governor Smith, on the other hand, is not playing politics, and political considerations are behind him. For the first time in 25 years he has nothing on his mind except enjoying himself to the fullest.

He goes first to the beach and swims, he goes to the horse races, dog races, polo grounds and he even has a lively interest in the forthcoming fight between Sharkey and Strickling which the winter colony here is beginning to discuss with avidity.

It will always remain one of the ironies of history that the meeting between the two great rivals for the presidency, unprecedented as it was, was in a great degree due to the overzealousness of Marion's publicity agents. It was the time that both men set foot on Miami Beach, they schemed to bring them together.

Both Mr. Hoover and Smith displayed the agitation they kicked up and kept alive but this agitation reached a point finally where it was almost embarrassing not to meet. Consequently, Mr. Hoover said he would be "most happy" to receive his Democratic rival, and Governor Smith could not but become aware of the implied invitation.

Governor Smith felt his position in Miami keenly.

Both Enjoy Visit
"Honestly," he said to a friend, "when I came here I knew how Mr. Hoover was here. I knew he was in Florida and I didn't see a paper for days. Somebody had told me he was at Palm Beach, and somebody had told me he was on a fishing trip."

But both men, it appeared today, genuinely enjoyed their visit. The governor's frankness in congratulating Mr. Hoover on his victory his infectious good humor, and his "being himself" as evidenced by the wearing of the brown derby, all appeared to Mr. Hoover, and on the other hand the president-elect proved an amiable best which impressed "Al."

They swapped stories of the campaign, the amusing blunders, and laughed together over some of their respective experiences.

Most folks forget that the kidneys, like the bowels, sometimes get sluggish and clogged and need a flushing occasionally, else we have backache and dull misery in the kidney region, severe headaches, rheumatic twinges, torpid liver, acid stomach, sleeplessness and all sorts of bladder disorders.

You simply must keep your kidneys active and clean and the moment you feel an ache or pain in the kidney region begin drinking lots of water. Also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store here, take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will thank you for it. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is intended to flush clogged kidneys and help stimulate them to activity. It also helps neutralize the acids in the urine so they no longer irritate, thus helping to relieve bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink, which everybody should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean.

A well-known local druggist says he sells lots of Jad Salts to folks who believe in trying to correct kidney trouble while it is only trouble.

WINNER OF BEAUTY TITLE STARTS SUIT
Mrs. LeRoy Barnett, "Miss Marion" in Contest, Seeks Divorce

Mrs. LeRoy Barnett, better known as Betty LeRoy, winner of the "Miss Marion" title at a beauty pageant at Marion, Ohio, last spring, has filed a petition in common pleas court for divorce from Barnett.

Mrs. Barnett charges her husband with extreme cruelty, saying that he has beaten her, and that she has been subjected to physical and mental abuse. In her petition she refers to the arrest of Barnett in a Michigan city on a charge of assault and battery.

Less than a week after their marriage in Bucyrus, Aug. 11, 1928, Mrs. Barnett filed charges against her husband, who she claimed "had beaten her." The petition states that her husband was confined to jail for several days on this charge.

Mrs. Barnett claims that her husband never contributed toward her support and that some time ago he left for California. So far as is known, the petition states, he is there now.

LeRoy's Mrs. Barnett is still under 21; this is her third marriage. Former appeals to the court resulted in an annulment and a divorce. Her first husband was John LeRoy, who was killed in the war. The second husband was John LeRoy, who was killed in the war.

Said by Grocery Firm
John D. Owens and Clifford A. Owens, former operators of the Marion National Mill here, have appealed to the common pleas court in judgment returned against them in a judgment in favor of the Marion National Mill. The Owens brothers failed to pay the mill for the sale of flour and the mill sought to buy its flour on the open market.

The law firm of Corhart & Warner represents the grocery company. Messrs. Young & Mouser represent the Owens.

Contempt Action Started
A rule for contempt of court has been filed in common pleas court here by Mrs. C. C. Wolf and Joseph A. Wolf against the Owens brothers. The plaintiffs claim that two parcels of land sold at sheriff's sale had been bid in by the Owens brothers but that they had not made payment to the sheriff. The sale was made in a foreclosure action.

Attorneys Benjamin S. Lurie and Theodore B. Ochs represent the plaintiffs.

Licenses Issued
A marriage license has been issued to a couple to August Clemons, 27, store manager, and Ruth Recco, 21, bookkeeper, both of Marion.

Named Administrator
E. C. Young has been named administrator of the estate of Mrs. M. E. Nigley.

G. R. MILLER, 86, DIES AT GALION

Aged Resident Succumbs Following Brief Illness; Surviving Relatives

GALION, Jan. 30.—Charles Riblet Miller, 86, died at his home 141 North Liberty st., Monday night following a brief illness.

Mr. Miller was born near Ashland, N. H., in 1842 and was a son of Charles and Mary Riblet Miller. He came to Galion at an early age and for a time served as a clerk in the local postoffice. Later he took up sea painting and continued in that work for many years. He was a leader of the Galion Democratic forces and several times served as councilman. He also served a number of years as township clerk.

His marriage in 1865 was to Mary Love of Cleveland, who died in 1921. Surviving Mr. Miller are two daughters, Miss Inez Miller and Mrs. J. H. Barr, Galion; two sons, William Miller, St. Louis, Mo.; Albert Miller, Cleveland, and two brothers, W. W. Miller and H. F. Miller, of near Galion.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Rev. O. C. Kramer of the Lutheran church and will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will follow at Fairview cemetery.

ALTER PLANS

Appetite Home Not To Have Administration Building

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Improvements and new buildings at the federal model home proposed for the original plans under the $500,000 appropriation of the last legislature, which lapsed Dec. 31, last.

The principal change from the original plans will be the elimination of the administration building, according to Gov. Myers T. Cooper. The administration building will not be constructed at this time because it would provide no comfort for the inmates and would be a heavy load of overhead for so small an institution, the governor declared.

CARDINGTON—Chester Ullom received a broken little finger on the right hand while working at the Hy-Dean Press Manufacturing Co., in Mt. Gilead Tuesday morning.

SHOW SHOPPING

With JACK or JILL

"Marriage by Contract" with Patsy Ruth Miller and Lawrence Gray, story by Edward Clark and directed by James Flood, Ruby Lafayette, Robert Edison, Ralph Emerson, John St. Polis, Shirley Palmer, Claire McDowell, Duke Martin and Raymond Keane in the supporting cast. Billy and Dolly O'Brien, Randy and King, Arena Brothers and Carrie Lingo, vaudeville. Through to-night at the Palace.

The story of an American boy and a girl who marry on the compensation theory is superbly portrayed in the feature picture which sounds very but isn't. The photography and continuity are all that one expects in a Tiffany-Stahl presentation and nothing seems to have been omitted in making the picture a success from every standpoint.

Patsy Ruth Miller, who has looks a plenty and a mind of her own, takes up her abode with her companionate husband, Lawrence Gray, after a formal civil ceremony. Don goes to a fight while Patsy tries herself to a dance where she meets a former sweetheart who speaks for contract No. 2. Friend husband staggers in from the fight at 3 a. m. and then the row is on. Patsy goes home to dad, mother and grandmas. From then on she receives a proposal from the boy friend, marries a self-made man with money and bad manners, but the marriage doesn't last, marries an elderly man with lots of money, whom she deserts for a juvenile who would like to be free when the money is gone and then— it would spoil the picture to tell what happens.

THE outstanding feature is Patsy Ruth Miller's art in being her age. She goes from youth to apparent middle age in makeup that leaves nothing to be asked for in this particular line of art.

THE dance quartet does some mighty clever turns in its sketch, including group numbers and solo dances. The Arena Brothers present some difficult and new stunts in their acrobatic presentations and the dog takes his turn before the footlights like he really enjoyed it. Carrie Lingo goes through some ricki-mariolous hand eyes, kids the orchestra director, carries on about something or other and makes you wonder.

DE MOLAY TO STAGE "THREE WISE FOOLS"

First Rehearsal Held Last Night for Play To Be Given Feb. 26-27

"Three Wise Fools," to be presented by Marion chapter No. 315, Order of DeMolay, Feb. 26-27 in Central Junior high school auditorium, under the direction of Miss Lucille Foreman, dramatic coach at Harding high school, is the fourth play to be given in this city by the DeMolay members.

The play is a comedy in three acts written by Austin Strong, and produced by Winchell Smith and John Golden at the Criterion theater, New York City. A committee comprising George A. Grieser, author of the chapter, Harold Hider, Carl Seeger, Wade McMahon, Earl Hovelson and Nita Foreman, selected the play from a long list because of the excellent parts to be offered to young men.

Basin of Story

The story concerns three old men who have loved the same girl and were refused by her. They decide to live together unmarried for the rest of their lives, for they feel certain that they can never find another girl to love as beautiful as she. The opportunities for comedy are unlimited. "The Thirteenth Chair," "Officer 9000" and "Captain Applejack" are the productions which have been given by the DeMolay in past years.

The first rehearsal for the play this year was held last night at Masonic Temple.

Cast Selected

The cast of characters for the play is as follows: "Mr. Theodore Foreman" as Sherman Haldeman; "Dr. Richard Gann" as Robert Unsmear; "Hon. James Trumbull" as Wade McMahon; "Miss Fairchild" as Miss Violet Doll; "Mrs. Saunders" as Miss Lenore Boudley; "Gordon Schoyler" as Carl Seeger; "Benjamin Suratt" as Lee Quackenbush; "John Crawford" as Ted Frank; "John" as Earl Hovelson; "Ging" as James McDonald; "Douglas" as Robert Cressap; Ben Cressap, dean will be stage manager, assisted by Harold Hider.

At a regular meeting Saturday afternoon committees will be appointed to take care of programs, tickets and publicity.

TOLEDO RED MEN TO VISIT MARION

Will Confer Degree at Zone Meeting Scheduled for Feb. 2

The degree term of the Toledo tribe, No. 131, of Toledo, will confer the adoption degree at a zone meeting to be held here Feb. 2, it was announced last night at a meeting of the Sandusky Tribe No. 99, Improved Order of Red Men. One application was received and one retulament accepted.

Several speakers will be on the program at the zone meeting, including great chief of records of Ohio, John Braunschweiger, and past great sachem of Ohio, Samuel J. Epier.

The local tribe of the order will celebrate its forty-seventh anniversary at the time of the zone meeting with a special program. The lodge was instituted Feb. 2, 1882.

LOCAL WAR VETS TO ATTEND CONFERENCE

Legion Post Arranges To Send Delegation to Mt. Vernon Feb. 3

Arrangements for sending a delegation to Mt. Vernon, Sunday, Feb. 3, to attend a Central Ohio district conference of American Legion officers and members, were made at a meeting of the Marion Post, No. 162, held at the Legion dugout on South High st., last night. The conference, the first district meeting of the year, will mark the opening of "Know the Legion Week" in this part of Ohio.

Should a sufficient number of local members make the trip, a special bus will be chartered.

In line with action being taken by legion posts throughout the country, the local organization voted to send telegrams to United States Senators Fess and Burton, urging them to support the cruiser bill now up in congress. The bill relates to proposed enlargement of the navy equipment.

In connection with plans for observance of "Know the Legion Week" here, it was decided to have a special program presented each night. The public will be invited. Details of the plans, covering the period from Feb. 4 to 9, inclusive, will be published later.

Mrs. L. K. Warner gave a report on child welfare work being done by the legion and Miss Margaret L. Dowd, Red Cross secretary, spoke regarding pending legislation affecting war veterans. Mrs. Warner and L. Don Jones are both legion members.

Too Much "Dosing" Lowers Resistance to Flu-Attacks

A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins upset the digestive system. Too much "dosing" especially in the case of children, still further disturbs the digestion and should be avoided except on advice of a physician.

Vicks VapoRub is especially valuable because it is applied externally and so can be used freely with no risk of upsetting the digestion. Nor can it interfere with any other treatment your doctor may prescribe.

Rubbin' on the throat and chest, Vicks acts two ways at once: (1) through the skin like a poultice, and (2) by means of its medicated vapors, released by body warmth and inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages.—Advt.

REAL ESTATE BOARD TO OPEN CAMPAIGN

Month's Advertising To Acquaint Public with Aims and Service

Plans for an intensive advertising campaign which will be opened Saturday were made last night at the regular meeting of the Marion Real Estate board, at Hotel Harding. A banquet preceded the meeting.

The campaign will be conducted locally to inform the public what the Real Estate board stands for, the value of its appraisals and its workings. The campaign will continue through February.

A report of the state convention at Columbus was read.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held at Hotel Harding, Feb. 12.

SPAIN QUIET AFTER REVOLT IS HALTED

Complete Suppression of Outbreak Is Reported by Government

MADRID, Jan. 30.—Quiet prevailed throughout Spain today after another attempted revolt had been nipped in the bud by quick action on the part of government troops, according to official advices.

The government announced the complete suppression of the revolutionary outbreak in the following communique issued today:

"The government has decided to take the sternest measures to free the country from these constant outbreaks which are headed by the bandits and others. These measures will be submitted to the king for his approval shortly.

"The harm which the outbreaks caused our currency on the foreign exchanges is regretted. The government has informed the diplomatic corps that the revolutionary movement has been completely suppressed. All culprits will be punished without flinching."

King Alfonso received the news of the revolt while hunting at Donana near Seville. He immediately returned to Seville and will come here as soon as possible.

The revolt movement is believed to have been inspired by the Republicans and directed against the king as well as Primo De Rivera, premier and dictator. The republican leader, Sanchez Guerra, is credited with having planned the movement after its secret return from his exile in France.

RUTH IN SECLUSION, WILL IS PROBATED

Document Leaves $50,000 Estate to Dorothy Helen Ruth

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—George Herman Ruth, who in seclusion at some unknown retreat today, safe from reporters who sought to interview him in regard to his late wife's will, probated yesterday. Completely worn out by recent worries, the Babe eluded a cordon of newspapermen at railroad terminals here and slipped out of town late yesterday.

One report had it that the home run king had boarded the 6:24 train for St. Petersburg, Fla. He is due at the Florida camp in about three weeks to start baseball practice and to accompany Lou Gehrig, his team mate on the New York Yankees, on a fishing trip.

The $50,000 estate of Mrs. Ruth, probated yesterday, was left to Dorothy Helen Ruth, at one time known as Marie Warrington. (Babe Ruth, Mrs. Ruth's mother, her four brothers and three sisters are given $5 each under the terms of Mrs. Ruth's will filed here yesterday for probate.)

Mrs. Ruth, who was burned to death at Waterbury, Mass., Jan. 11, 1927, executed the will in New York July 11, 1927. Personal property was valued at $35,000.

STATE ORGANIZATION BILL INTRODUCED

Nine New Measures To Be Referred to Committees by Senate

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—The Kunkler bill providing for reorganization of a number of state departments, and the Lefebvre bill authorizing the governor to appoint a commission empowered to "educate" Ohioans to buy Ohio-made goods, together with nine other new bills are scheduled to be referred to standing committees in the senate this afternoon.

Both the senate and house convened at 1:30 this afternoon.

Bills scheduled for second reading and preference in senate committees today include: Ackerman bill, raising dentists' licenses to $50; Ackerson bill, providing penalties for newspapers concerning births, deaths and marriages; Moore bill, permitting county commissioners to contract with the federal government for maintenance of federal prisoners in county jails; Marshall bill, giving city planning commissions power throughout a county; Nichols bill, providing for allocation of taxes on utilities by the state tax commission instead of by the utilities commission; Watt bill, placing at 12 years the minimum age limit for commitment to the Lancaster boys' industrial school.

CIRCUIT BREAKER INVENTION REVEALED

Deionization of Electric Arc Hailed as Most Important Development in Years

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Invention of "the deion circuit breaker," which is hailed as the electrical industry's most important development of recent years, was publicly announced for the first time today at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers.

The device, which is revolutionary in character, is based on a fundamentally new method of interrupting an electric current. It is the only new method advanced in 25 years. The name "deion" is derived from the essential feature of its operation, the deionization of an electric arc.

Dr. Joseph Slepian, of whose engineering genius the invention is a product, told the assembled delegates of its theoretical and mathematical aspects. He is a member of the research staff of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co.

The new circuit breaker, in accomplishing the deionization process, drives an electric arc over a multilayered path at the rate of 2,400 miles per hour—much faster than a rifle bullet. The arc itself has a temperature of 5,000 degrees Fahrenheit, the highest temperature ever attained and one-half the estimated temperature at the sun's surface.

TOLEDO RED MEN TO VISIT MARION

Will Confer Degree at Zone Meeting Scheduled for Feb. 2

The degree term of the Toledo tribe, No. 131, of Toledo, will confer the adoption degree at a zone meeting to be held here Feb. 2, it was announced last night at a meeting of the Sandusky Tribe No. 99, Improved Order of Red Men. One application was received and one retulament accepted.

Several speakers will be on the program at the zone meeting, including great chief of records of Ohio, John Braunschweiger, and past great sachem of Ohio, Samuel J. Epier.

The local tribe of the order will celebrate its forty-seventh anniversary at the time of the zone meeting with a special program. The lodge was instituted Feb. 2, 1882.

G. R. MILLER, 86, DIES AT GALION

Aged Resident Succumbs Following Brief Illness; Surviving Relatives

GALION, Jan. 30.—Charles Riblet Miller, 86, died at his home 141 North Liberty st., Monday night following a brief illness.

Mr. Miller was born near Ashland, N. H., in 1842 and was a son of Charles and Mary Riblet Miller. He came to Galion at an early age and for a time served as a clerk in the local postoffice. Later he took up sea painting and continued in that work for many years. He was a leader of the Galion Democratic forces and several times served as councilman. He also served a number of years as township clerk.

His marriage in 1865 was to Mary Love of Cleveland, who died in 1921. Surviving Mr. Miller are two daughters, Miss Inez Miller and Mrs. J. H. Barr, Galion; two sons, William Miller, St. Louis, Mo.; Albert Miller, Cleveland, and two brothers, W. W. Miller and H. F. Miller, of near Galion.

Funeral services will be in charge of the Rev. O. C. Kramer of the Lutheran church and will be held at the home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will follow at Fairview cemetery.

INSTALL OFFICERS

Bucyrus W. R. C. Holds Business Session in G. A. R. Hall

BUCYRUS, Jan. 30.—Officers for the ensuing year were installed at a called meeting of the Women's Relief Corps held at the G. A. R. hall Tuesday afternoon. The following officers were installed: Mrs. August Christman, president; Mary Hayes, senior vice president; Nina Koons, junior vice president; Fannie Davenport, chaplain; Mabel Fry, secretary; Sarah Bishop, conductor; Sarah Hayden, assistant conductor; Leona Keefe, treasurer; Mary Conkle, Mary Heller, Allie Koplinger, Mabel McKibben, color bearers.

Plans were discussed for the party to be held at the home of Mrs. F. W. Fry Feb. 13, at which time a program suggestive to the birthdays of McKinley and Lincoln have been arranged.

HUGE AUTO THEFT RING IS DISCLOSED

Newport Believed by Authorities To Be Center of Operations

CINCINNATI, Jan. 30.—What government officials declare to be one of the largest rings of automobile thieves in the country, is expected to be disclosed here by federal authorities following a number of raids on northern Kentucky towns which have netted many stolen cars, a quantity of liquor, and a 1,000-dollar still, fully equipped with mash bin.

The investigation is being conducted under the supervision of United States District Attorney Sawyer at South of the eastern district of Kentucky.

Newport, it is alleged, is the center for the ring, where a great number of cars, with motor numbers, bills of sale, and license numbers changed, have been sold, through what is believed to be the chief agency, at a low price. It was indicated by officials that a number of persons in the vicinity will have purchased these cars, will be forced to return them to their rightful owners.

644 SHEEP KILLED IN MORROW COUNTY

Claims Total $6,033.38 for Damage Done By Dogs in 18 Months

MT. GILEAD, Jan. 30.—In a report to the state auditor, County Auditor Roy Miller reports that 644 sheep were killed in Morrow county in the last 18 months for which claims were presented to the commissioners of Morrow county. The total amount of damage done by dogs in the 18 month period and the fees for witnesses, etc., cost the county a total of $7,652.24.

For sheep killed total claims of $6,033.38 was allowed. Witness fees cost $1,345.55. One of the most unusual allowances made in the past 18 months was $95 for two cows that died after being bitten by a mail dog. Twenty-one other cows and two horses were given treatments for mad dog bites, paid by the dog and kennel fund.

Fund Exhausted

Auditor Roy Miller stated that the dog and kennel fund had been exhausted and that all claims allowed in 1925 could not be paid unless some of the money received in the sale of 1926 license tags was used. This probably spells an increase in the dog license rates in this county next year, as all sheep claims, etc., must be met by the dog and kennel fund.

FEB. 15 IS DATE SET FOR SESSION

Sixth Annual Session To Be Held in Masonic Temple

CARDINGTON, Jan. 30.—Plans have been completed by members of the Cardington Eastern Star chapter for entertaining representatives of chapters of the Twelfth district of the Ohio Order of Eastern Stars who will convene for their sixth annual meeting here Feb. 16. Mrs. Savella Johnson, worthy grand matron of the lodge, will be a guest of honor. Plans include sessions in the morning, afternoon and evening to be held at the Masonic temple.

REPORT INJURIES

Many Suffer From Injuries in Falls on Ice Pavements

KENTON, Jan. 30.—Numerous minor accidents have been reported in Kenton and vicinity since the heavy snowfall of late Sunday afternoon and night.

While working near her home, Vile st., Mrs. J. E. Erwin slipped and fell fracturing her ankle in two places.

A second mishap occurred when Miss Anna Sherman slipped on the ice and snow, sustaining a fractured wrist.

Three stitches were required to close a cut sustained by Mrs. C. E. Kerns above her right eye when she fell while in this city. Her home is in Bellefontaine.

Condition of Oliver Brown, Kenton basketball star, who was injured during the season in which he was returning from a game at Mt. Vernon crashed into a guard rail in a curve near Mt. Gilead, causing him to improve. He sustained a broken shoulder blade and body bruise. Other players who had been in the car were not seriously injured.

ALTER PLANS

Appetite Home Not To Have Administration Building

COLUMBUS, Jan. 30.—Improvements and new buildings at the federal model home proposed for the original plans under the $500,000 appropriation of the last legislature, which lapsed Dec. 31, last.

The principal change from the original plans will be the elimination of the administration building, according to Gov. Myers T. Cooper. The administration building will not be constructed at this time because it would provide no comfort for the inmates and would be a heavy load of overhead for so small an institution, the governor declared.

CARDINGTON—Chester Ullom received a broken little finger on the right hand while working at the Hy-Dean Press Manufacturing Co., in Mt. Gilead Tuesday morning.

BAPTISTS AND EPWORTH TIE FOR BERTH

Harding Will Play Galion Five Here Friday In League Game

NEW FACES WILL BE SEEN IN LINEUP OF RED AND BLACK

Compton's Team Must Win Next Three Loop Contests

BY KARL R. NELSON
Sports Editor, The Star
COACH BALDY COMPTON and his Harding high school basketball team will play the next three games in the North Central Ohio league schedule drawn to a close.

With Galion and Bucyrus out in front of the standings undefeated in two starts, it will be necessary for the local outfit to win the next three games in order to be in the running for the title in case the Crawford county team blows one of its contests.

Friday night the Red and Black will take on tough opponents in the Galion five. Galion holds victories over Shelby and Ashland and this week's contest will be its first really tough assignment of the year.

Galion's league victories are being taken as a matter of course for the victims of its attack are listed as the weaker teams of the league. It may be that Coach Compton's team will rise to the necessary heights to put over a knockout blow on Harding staying in the league loop. However, Harding should win. That was the forecast in the last two games the locals have played this season but overconfidence turned the sure thing to defeat.

With three new men eligible to start Friday's contest, Coach Compton is likely to use a new combination against Galion. Tuttle, being favored for the center berth with Gillis going to forward. Keller and Garrett will also see action in the game although whether they start is still uncertain.

Awards Are Blamed for Player Holdouts

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—There are allegations being alleged today that basketball is beginning to regret the moment of weakness in which it lent its auspices to the project of a season league, they were detected in the act of being valuable to their employers. Such a man ought to be rewarded, of course, if only in recognition of his unique tendencies but it seems, unfortunately, that the project has an inclination to give the winner ideas and, as everybody knows, a ball player with ideas is very liable to be a terrible thing.

In any case, they are blaming the most valuable player awards for the fact that Mickey Cochran, of the Athletics, and Fred Lindstrom, of the Giants, are definitely listed among the holdouts of the 1930 off season. Cochran won the All American league award without any great contest; Lindstrom made the National race with Jim Patton and close that New York felt it had been cheated most grievously when Bottomley was declared the winner.

They say Cochran wants $1,000 extra for committing to associate himself further with the Philadelphia ball club and it is not because "it is a lot of money, even if it doesn't get it. However, the fact that Cochran became an amateur concurrently with the award of the league prize may be a more circumstance, as quite probably is the case with any demand Lindstrom is sponsoring. Both had big seasons and undoubtedly would have been committed to extralarge notions, even if nobody ever had heard of a player who actually was valuable. The average club owner will subscribe to this theory in part, while giving an exception to the claim that player awards have little bearing on the situation. He will admit that the player needs no incentive in the matter of making for money, as he naturally is somewhat ticked that he, out of the largeness of a great, big heart, has provided the incentive, anyhow.

According to his testimony, the ball club have both ways by the transaction, first, in money, which is always first, and, second, because somehow the player seldom reacts favorably to the honor that has been bestowed upon him. They point to Cuyler as a prize exhibit. It is a fact that he never was the same player after he got the nod in 1925. They point, too, to Hornsby and Vance, whose work depreciated, although personally I can't see Hornsby hugging the honor to his bosom. Granting that he is the man he was and hasn't been for several seasons, his decline obviously is a matter of nature.

Anyhow, the managers are sure they have made a big mistake with the whole business and why they didn't figure that out in the beginning, I can't tell you.

FORM BLIND TEAM

Sightless Basketball Players Display Unusually Skill

TALLADEGA, Ala.—What is believed to be the first basketball team of the United States to be composed of totally blind players has been organized at the Alabama State School for the Blind here.

Several games have already been played by the team against other blind players composed of partly blind students of the school. Unusually skill and alertness in passing, receiving and pitching balls is shown by the players.

The idea of such a team came to Edward R. Wren, athletic director for the State Institute for the Blind and the Deaf here, when he watched a small boy try to locate a basketball on the campus. This led to a handful of gravel and scattered it about until particles struck the ball.

GIRLS' CAGE TEAM

WINS GAME 108-0

PALATKA, Fla.—A very high scoring record for girls' basketball teams is believed to have been set here when Palatka's peerless Panthers, southern independent champions, rolled up a 108 to 0 victory over the Santa Maura team from Jacksonville.

During the past five years the Panthers have won 102 games and lost but one contest. This was by a one-point margin.

Arrangements are expected to be made to have the local sextette represent Florida in the national tournament at Wichita, Kansas, in March.

EXPECT 50,000 AT BOWLING CONGRESS

CHICAGO—More than 50,000 bowlers from all parts of the United States will attend the twenty-ninth annual American Bowling Congress to be held here for six weeks, starting March 1. The bowling meet will bring together, it is said, more actual participants than any sporting event ever held.

TO FIGHT
Battling Bob Hudson, Columbus, will meet Gorilla Jacobs in a club fight at Akron tonight. The fighters will weigh in at 142 pounds.

FINN TO RUN
NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—Paavo Nurmi, great Finnish runner, has finally consented to compete in the two-mile race at the St. Joseph meet in Newark, N. J., tomorrow night. The flying Finn will race against nearly 50 opponents who will receive handicaps ranging up to 170 yards.

DENISON WINS
GRANVILLE, Jan. 30.—Denison moved into second place along with Cincinnati, in the Buckeye conference basketball race today, by losing to Wittenberg 32 to 31 here last night. It was Denison's third victory in five games, following two defeats in a row.

Schuler Sets Mark To Win Tournament

A RECORD that will probably stand up for some time on the Recreation Alley was established last night when Schuler, with a total of $89 nine for four games, won the second week's tournament.

Eighteen of the 22 bowlers participating in the affair placed above the 700 mark although Schuler was the only one to get above 800. The bud scores of 222, 210, 207 and 259. Wakefield of Bucyrus took second money with his score of 701, while one pin behind was McRill in third place. Bettridge finished fourth with 750, W. Baldauf and S. Sharrock took fifth and sixth money respectively.

ELIMINATION FIGHTS PLANNED AT GARDEN

K. O. Christner Will Meet Paulino in February

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—With the matching of K. O. Christner and Paulino Uzcudun for a Washington's birthday heavyweight party at Madison Square Garden, plans for spring and early summer eliminations were made public today by Col. John S. Hammond, who sketched out a program that at least sounds well when it is played over.

The good colored will offer Tom Healey a shot at the winner of the Christner-Paulino scuffle. It is his idea also to match the second winner with the winner of Friday night's brawl between Max Schmeling and Johnny Niles.

The survivor of these four eliminations will then be tossed in with the winner of Miami Beach. And then, the colored adds, if Dempsey is willing to meet the battle-scarred veteran who then holds the fort alone, he will be accommodated. If not, the lone survivor should be crowned champion without further ado.

It is a pretentious schedule, but if it can be adhered to, the man who comes through will be elected on the first ballot.

The first monkey wrench was tossed into the wheels of progress by Charley Harvey, who declared that Healey would have no part of such an arrangement after being beaten to the Christner match by Paulino.

the championship in the first round of the intermediate Sunday school league when they took a barn-burner 17 to 10 game from the Epworth engers while Greenwood kept pace with the leaders by whipping Trinity Baptist 52 to 4.

Trinity tried its best to hand the Calvary team a shut-out but failed on one point when Augustus scored a foul late in the second half.

The championship game between Epworth and Christians was fast from start to finish, although the champs were leading at the half 13 to 4. The losers held the C. C. 22 even in the last half, each team scoring six points. Harzar was high scorer with three field goals. Liles and Foot each scored three points for the losers.

In the first session the Presbyterian five stepped out to take a game from the Calvary quintet 26 to 1. The score at the half was 19 to 0. Morgan led the winners with 22 points while Augustus scored 12 points on two fouls and a field goal.

The betting is now even that Calvary will be shut out before the second hour of play is completed.

Greenwood took credit for winning something or other when they defeated the three-man Baptist team 52 to 4. The score at the half was 27 to 0. Jones scored all of Trinity's points on two fouls and a field goal. Chauler led the winners scoring with 18 points. The victory gave the Greenwood team second place in the final standing for the first round.

TRINITY BAPTIST and Forward basketball teams finished in a deadlock for second place in the South Sunday School league when they both won their contests in the final set of games in the first round of the loop played last night at the Y. M. C. A. Epworth stepped out to win from the weak Calvary crew 30 to 18 and Trinity Baptist defeated Waldo in a fast 39-29 game.

The Baptist-Waldo clash, which was a battle from start to finish, and the Baptists trailing at the half 21 to 18 and Trinity Baptist defeated Waldo in a fast 39-29 game. The Baptist-Waldo game, which was a battle from start to finish, and the Baptists trailing at the half 21 to 18 and Trinity Baptist defeated Waldo in a fast 39-29 game.

In the Epworth-Calvary game Gilmore, Epworth center, tied the league scoring record when he razzed up eight field goals and one free throw. The eventual winners were ahead at half-time, 23 to 10. Partridge was second in scoring with 14 points. The victory placed the winners in the second place with the Baptists. The defeat relegated the losers to a tie for last place.

In the first game of the evening the championship Christian team defeated the U. B. five, 41 to 12. The defense of the losers crumpled as the game developed and Gillis, Ward and Dulie ran wild to lead the Christian team home. Vanderhoff led the U. B. team with six points.
